Alma Mater

Words by Irving H. Blake, '11 Music by Hubert P. Davis, '12

Here's to Bates, our Alma Mater dear,
Proudest and fairest of her peers,
We pledge to her our loyalty,
Our faith and our honor thru the years.
Long may her praises resound,
Long may her sons exalt her name,
May her glory shine while time endures,
Here's to our Alma Mater's fame.

We have seen her battles bravely fought,
Prowess and pluck upon the field,
We have known defeat and victory;
Bates men were never known to yield.
Here's to the Garnet—Hurrah!
Here's to the pluck that shall not fail,
To our Bates and all she means to us,
Here's to our Alma Mater—Hail!

Class History

IT IS HARD to write in a few words an account of the class of 1912 which will do justice to all their achievements, or that will put on record all the things which must ever linger in our memories as a part and parcel of the life of that glorious class. From the day when we first assembled in the old chapel in Hathorn Hall until the day when we last come from its doors to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" has been a time of close friendships—closer than we have realized until now, when the moment of parting is so near.

We have known many vicissitudes together. We have seen our athletic teams defeated, and—occasionally, have seen them win. We have known our triumphs and defeats on the forensic platform and in the gym.

We have rejoiced together and we have sorrowed together. It is idle to list our achievements or to catalog the various incidents of our college days—they are written upon the pages of individual history—but the history of our class shall forever be engraved indelibly upon our memories, both glad and sorrowful, of these deeper experiences.

And so,

Here's to 1912!
Drink 'er down, drink 'er down!
Here's to 1912!
Drink 'er down!

Here's to 1912.
They are always raisin'—!
Drink 'er down, drink 'er down,
Drink 'er down, down, down.

CHARLES HAM ABBOTT

"Liz"

Hello, Liz! This is not the expression that Liz wore after doing his famous chromatic run on the bass drum at our State University; rather is it the glad smile which he has thus far worked in vain to secure admittance to Rand Hall. Charles is one of the neat dressers of the class, even if he does come from the spud country. He first came to us when Sophomore debates were ripe, and he has been with us ever since, a valuable and loyal member of 1912.

Born at Foxcroft, Maine, April 2, 1890; fitted at Presque Isle High School; entered Bates in the Class of 1911; Manager Aroostook Club Basketball Team (3); Prize Drill (2); College Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Mandolin Club (1, 2, 3); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); member Y. M. C. A.; Eurosophian; Aroostook Club (3, 4); Anvil Chorus Club (4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, History, Philosophy; thesis subject, "The Rise of European Democracy;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, medicine; address, Presque Isle.

SAMUEL LEONE ALLEN

"SAMULE"

It's really too bad we could not have a full length portrait of Sam, for this small part of his anatomy gives only a faint idea of the stern and uncompromising dignity for which he is famous. Sam sure thinks he is some fusser, a reminiscence of his matinee idol days. There's always something doing when Sam is around. Why, just notice the wide-awake expression on his face—due to stimulants administered by the photographer just before the operation. Nevertheless, Sam is one of the solid men who have made 1912 famous in musical lines.

Born at Auburn, Me., May 11, 1891; fitted at Good Will High School; made numerals in Baseball (2); made Prize Drill (3); member Musical Associations; Secretary (4); Glee Club (4); Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4), Manager (4); Banjo Club (4); Gibson String Quartette; member Y. M. C. A.; Eurosophian; Democrat; Majors, History, German; thesis subject, "Importance of Laboring Men's Insurance in the United States;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, business; address, Fairfield, Me.

JESSIE WINIFRED ALLEY

"SALLY"

This is a little, short alley leading (or rather, led) from Gamage Avenue, Auburn. But, tho small, she is a bouncer just the same, of the rubber ball type—always active, always busy, always smiling. Sally captured the declamation prizes both Freshman and Sophomore years. Now, just one more thot before we close: "Who is Sam?"

Born in Middleton, Mass., July 17, 1890; fitted for college at E. L. H. S., Auburn, Maine; numerals in basketball (1, 2, 3); member Eurosophia; Freshman and Sophomore Declamation Prize; Congregationalist; Major, German; thesis subject, "Faust Legends before Goethe;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Auburn, Maine.

AMELIA MAUDE ASTLE

"MAUDE"

"Maud with her venturous climbings and tumbles and
childish escapes,
Maud, the delight of Aroostook, the ringing joy of the Hall (Rand)."

Now, the problem is, how did Tennyson get wise to this most "airy, fairy" member of 1912. In spite of her numerous escapades, Maude sobered down enough to make good in elocution, and on the strength of that feat has been engaged this past year in helping Prof. Rob teach the young idea how to spout.

Born at Houlton, Maine, Jan. 12, 1891. Fitted at Houlton High School. Manager Girls' Baseball; member Y. W. C. A. Cabinet member (3); member Woman's Student Council (4); Chairman Entertainment Committee; member Piæria; Prize Division Declamations (2); Ivy Day toast, "Our Boys;" Class Executive Committee (3); Assistant in Oratory (4); Free Baptist; Republican; Majors: German; English; thesis subject, "Gretchen, a Character Study;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Houlton, Maine.

JUNE ATKINSON

Flighty, voice like a lark, rapid flow of language, never studious, flunked history, canned once for dancing, first in the dashes, black hair, books covered with cribs, careless, thotless, but always ready to help—this is June in a nut-shell. Seriously, June is one of the few real students in 1912, has taken prizes enough to pay her way thru college, and will probably have enough left for railroad fare to Somersworth, N. H.

Born at Brunswick, Feb. 1, 1890; fitted at Brunswick High School; member Piæria; member Woman's Student Council (4); Secretary Cheney House Association (4); member Spofford Club (3, 4); Membership Committee (4); Alumni Editor BATES STUDENT; Assistant in History (4); Prize for Freshman Winter Sketch; Sophomore Essay Prize; General Scholarship Prize (2, 3); Commencement Honor; Congregationalist; Progressive Republican; Majors, English, History; thesis subject, "Tennyson, the Poet of His Century;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Brunswick, Maine.

MARY ELIZABETH AUDLEY

"May"

"Oh, you beautiful doll!
You great big, beautiful doll!"

This dainty little piece of painted china came from Gorham, New Hampshire—not Maine. Yet after all, there is a lot of life to it just the same. She has led Leo a merry dance which, by the way, is not the only manner in which she has manifested the terpsichorean propensities that she is known to possess. (The personal editors have one word longer than these, but they can't spell it every time.) May is one of the sweet singers, having added melody to the strains of the girls' glee club for three seasons.

Born in Gorham, N. H., Sept. 23, 1891; fitted at Gorham High School; Girls' Glee Club (2, 3, 4); member Polymnia; Prize Division Declamations (1); Class Day Historian; Junior Exhibition; Catholic; Democrat; Majors, English, French; thesis subject, "The Modern Problem Novel;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Gorham, N. H.

GEORGE MAYNARD BARTLETT

"BART"

This little shy man is Bart. Those things on his shoulders are wings. Bart is a very high flyer and vies with the birds, for he vaults from earth occasionally, but thus far he has always returned safely. We do not know, however, of any reason why he should not keep right on vaulting upward, for so far as we have any record Bart is a fairly good sort of a chap. Some hard fought victories, a clean athletic and student record, consistent effort, these are Bart's and they are pretty creditable things.

Born at Gorham, Maine, Jan. 21, 1891; fitted at Gorham High School; made numerals in Track; member 'Varsity Track Team (1, 2, 3, 4); member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; Majors, German, Chemistry; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address.

ROSCOE CONKLING BASSETT

"Ross"

"Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Roscoe Conkling," but not even this political cognomen could quench the fire of song within his sturdy frame. Alton, New Hampshire, sent him to Bates, and he has been lending his bit of music to the prosaic old halls ever since, as no one would ever doubt who once heard the morning serenade to Doc Britain, rendered by the anvil chorus on the way to Philosophy. And, let's see, isn't it the same Ross that gets one of those famous two-base hits occasionally? There's one thing about Ross that we'll put you wise to——if you want him to sing for you in the evening, catch him early in the morning and keep him under lock and key, for if you don't he'll forget all about it.

Born at Alton, N. H., April 23, 1888; fitted at Alton High School; entered Bates in the Class of 1910; made "B" in Baseball (2); Prize Drill (1); member Advisory Board of Athletic Association (4); Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); member Eurosophia, Vice-President (3); Anvil Chorus Club; Unitarian; Republican; Major, English; thesis subject, "George Merideth;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Alton, N. H.

HARRY MELVIN BICKFORD

"Bick"

Just observe who is present! This is Bick, from the back woods--hunter, guide, forester, student, athlete, bell-ringer and time-keeper for Prexy's College. The more we see of this man the more we wonder! What secrets do those sphinx-like lips enclose? What thots flit thru that noble brow? They tell us Bick has an attraction in the city. We can't dispute it Who's your friend, Bick?

Born at Carmel, Maine, Sept. 9, 1887; fitted at Maine Central Institute. Made numerals in Baseball (1, 2); made "B" in Football (3); Captain Class Basketball Team (2); Captain Class Baseball Team (2); Polymnian; Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, Mathematics, Geology, Astronomy. Thesis subject, "Reconnaissance of the Lewiston Quadrangle;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, forestry and teaching; address, Carmel, Maine.

LEO WASGATT BLAISDELL

"Lee"

This man hails from Hancock County, which fact alone marks him as a gentleman of distinction. Leo is one of the consistent members of the class, for he has worked in the same grocery store and has been attentive to the same girl ever since he came to college. Can you beat it? Sometime in the past, Leo must have performed some noble deed of heroism, for he always wears The Red Badge of Courage emblazoned upon his cheeks.

Born at East Franklin, Maine, Nov. 13, 1887; fitted at Maine Central Institute; made numerals in baseball (2); prize drill (2, 3); Free Baptist; Majors, English, Biology; thesis subject, "The Struggle for Existence in the Plant World;" degree, A.B.; address, East Franklin, Maine.

VAUGHN SEAVY BLANCHARD

"Blanch"

We have here our famous athlete and all-round ladies' man, Capt. Blanchard of the track team. That he has held this position for two years is good evidence as to his ability on the cinder path, and his course through college is strewn with broken hearts and broken records. Blanch is the leading member of the world renowned trio from Manchester, the other two members of which are Blyx Bly and Jess Lamorey. Besides athletic honors, Blanch got the presidential habit, shining in that capacity in the class and the student council. May he go hurdling through life as successfully as he has hurdled through college.

Born at Franklin, N. H., July 11, 1889; fitted at New Hampton Literary Institute; made numerals in Baseball (1); in Track (1, 2, 3, 4); in Basketball (1); Class Relay (3, 4); made "B" in Track (1, 2, 3, 4); Captain Class Team (2, 3, 4); made "B" in track (1, 2, 3, 4); Captain College Track Team (3, 4); Prize Drill (1, 2, 3); Secretary of the Athletic Asociation (2); member Y. M. C. A., Membership and Finance Committees (4); Pierian; member Student Council (2, 3, 4); Secretary (3), President (4); Class President (3); Class Marshal (1, 2); Executive Committee (2); Assistant in Gymnasium (4); Congregationalist; Democrat; Majors, German, French, Philosophy; thesis subject, "Athletics in Germany;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, athletic instructor; address, Manchester, N. H.

CARLTON BLY

"Blyx"

"Great oaks from little acorns grow." This is Blyx. He is the class baby. He is little, but—oh, my! He is mighty in his littleness. Owing to his extreme shortitude, he is farther from heaven than some of us, but no doubt there is still a chance for him. He can expand his mind and somewhere in this naughty world future generations shall see his little candle throwing its beams afar.

Born at Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 19, 1890; fitted at Manchester High School; Manager Tennis Team (3); Prize Drill (2); Eurosophian; Universalist; Democrat; Major, German; thesis subject, "The Anglo-German Situation of To-Day;" degree, A.B.; address, Manchester, N. H.

RALPH HAROLD BOLSTER

"NATHELBERT"

This is one of our giants, both intellectually and physically. He comes from the spud country, where mighty muscles are developed in the wrestle with the elements, and Ralph has proved in the weights that his muscles are well trained. He is one of those quiet fellows who surprise everybody by the amount they really accomplish without making any fuss about it. There's surely lots of satisfaction in being big, and we firmly believe that Ralph could dig more potatoes in one hour than any professor on the faculty.

Born at Easton, Maine, Aug. 11, 1889; fitted at Presque Isle High School; entered Bates in the Class of 1911; made numerals in track; made "B" in football; prize drill (1); member Aroostook Club, Catholic; Republican; Majors, English, Geology, Astronomy; thesis subject, "Geological Field Work;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, forestry; address, Easton, Maine.

CLINTON HOWARD BONNEY

"Dutch"

"My Bonney lies over in Auburn,
My Bonney lies over the bridge—"

Yes, this is Bonney—he's not a hobo. Don't judge him by his color scheme. Hear the echo of that necktie, how it resounds through Parker Hall; and those socks, see how they coincide with the tie. That was due to an accident when the dye pot tipped over. Dutch is losing some of the thatch from his roof, we grieve to say, but just the same that head, though bald, contains a mighty brain.

Born at Turner, Maine, 1888; fitted at E. L. H. S.; entered Bates with Class of 1911; Prize Drill (3); member Musical Association, Treasurer (3); Mandolin Club (3, 4); Banjo Club (4); Orchestra (4); member Y. M. C. A. (4); member Eurosophia; President (4); Congregationalist; Republican; Major, German; thesis subject, "Hauf, the Romanticist;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Auburn, Maine.

ZELA MAE BRIDGHAM

"ZELA"

Her picture does look about as big as anyone's, doesn't it, and she really looks dignified, but, then, you never can tell. Did you ever see her laying down the law to the printer's Devil of the MIRROR board, and did you ever see her trying to keep step with the aforesaid Devil? If you have there is no need of expounding further ,if you haven't, by all means do so. It is worth your while.

Born at Waterville, Maine, Sept. 26, 1889; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn, Maine; member Eurosophia; Assistant Secretary (2); Executive Committee (3); Universalist; Major, German; thesis subject, "A Comparison of Shakespeare's 'Shylock' and Lessing's 'Nathan, the Wise;'" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 41 Highland Avenue, Auburn, Maine.

CLARENCE HUBERTO BROWN

"Sunny Jim"

This man hails from the metropolis of Island Falls, right in the heart of the spud country. He preaches Sundays and practices during the week. Owing to an unavoidable tendency toward solemnity, he has come to acquire the cognomen of "Sunny Jim." Brown has a strange aversion to the Nickel and the Empire, and is never seen at these places oftener than six times a week.

Born at New Limerick, Maine, July 13, 1884; fitted at Island Falls High School; entered Bates in 1907; member Y. M. C. A., Corresponding Secretary (3), Chairman Missionary Committee (4); Polymnian, Chairman Membership Committee (4); member Aroostook Club; Class Treasurer (3); Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, English and Mathematics; thesis subject, "The Defects of Realism;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Island Falls.

GEORGE EDWARD BRUNNER

"Babe"

The B. F. Keith Company takes pleasure in presenting Mr. Babe Brunner, the world-famous mandolinist! And that's no joke either. He is very successful on the stage and off he is simply stunning. "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," but far be it from us to insinuate that Babe's power of charming is limited to the savage breast! Ask Proctor's waitress. In spite of his tender years Babe has been letting his little light shine as baseball manager this spring. On the whole we are very proud of him and wish him all success in the years to come.

Born at Plainville, Mass., Dec. 23, 1887; fitted at Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.; made numerals in Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Manager Class Basketball Team (2), Captain (3); Assistant Manager of Baseball (3), Manager (4); Prize Drill (1); member Musical Association; Executive Committee (2, 3, 4); Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Mandolin Club (1, 2, 3, 4), Leader (2, 3, 4); Banjo Club (4), Leader (4), Leader Gibson String Quartette (2, 3, 4); Pierian, Music Committee (2, 3); Secretary Parker Hall Association (2); member Massachusetts Club (2, 3, 4), Executive Committee (2); Vice-President (3); Class Executive Committee (1); Methodist; Republican; Majors, Philosophy, French and English; thesis subject, "The Control of Trust Companies;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, business; address, Plainville, Mass.

ERNEST HERMAN BRUNQUIST

"Brun"

Sir Ernest is getting to be quite a knight of the pen. He begins to take on the reportorial manner, and lends a critical ear to anything that might make a good story. Brunny is also some food expert, and we hear he is mighty fond of ice cream—likes it so well that he will rise out of a sound sleep to partake of it. Brunny is a good old chap just the same—he's got a fine Belle on the end of his rope, and we hope he will succeed in ringing it.

Born at Wakefield, Mass., Jan. 28, 1888; fitted at Attleboro, Mass., High School; Manager Class Basketball Team (1); made numerals in Track (2, 3); Prize Drill (1, 2); member Y. M. C. A.; Treasurer (3); Cabinet Member (3, 4); Piærian, Treasurer (2); member Massachusetts Club, Executive Committee (3), Treasurer (4); member Jordan Scientific Society, Executive Committee (4); Class Day Committee; Senior Exhibition; Class President (2); Chairman Prayer-Meeting Committee (1, 4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, German, English, Zoology; thesis subject, "A Phase of Heredity;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, medical missionary; address, Hood River, Oregon.

ALBERT WHITEHOUSE BUCK

"AL"

This is genial Al Presidential-Mansion Buck, our all round jolly good fellow and complete optimist. The municipality of his Alma Mater is Bucksport (named for Albert), and if you part it in the middle, thusly, Buck-sport, you have his name, address, and biography—all for the price of one. Yet when we look over the long list of Al's achievements, we get an idea of the solid worth that lies behind the fun.

Born at Orland, Maine, May 14, 1887; fitted at East Maine Conference Seminary; made numerals in Baseball (2); Assistant Manager Track (2), Manager (3); Class Relay (4); President Athletic Association (4) member Athletic Association Advisory Board (4); Vice-President Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Association (3); member Y. M. C. A., Membership and Finance Committees (4); Eurosophian, Executive Committee (2), Vice-President (3), Chairman Executive Committee (4); member Student Council (2, 3, 4), Vice-President (4); Executive Committee Parker Hall Association (3), President (4); Ivy Day Committee (3); Class Day "Address to Undergraduates;" Assistant in Gymnasium (2, 3, 4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, Philosophy, Zoölogy; thesis subject, "Bacterial Purification of Sewage;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, Biology; address, Orland.

ELIZABETH MASON CAMPBELL

"Betty"

This picture isn't very natural of Betty, because she can't move. Did you ever see her still before? She has to hurry to get her sleep in before the 6.45 rising bell, and then she has to hurry to get to sleep again before the lights go out at 10.15. It is really of no use to try to talk with Betty—she is in a brown study continually, and it is quite an extensive study she has made of Brown at that.

Born at Westbrook, Maine, July 20, 1891. Fitted at Westbrook High School. Girls' glee club (2, 3, 4); member Y. W. C. A.; member Polymnia; Ivy Day toast, "The Faculty;" Secretary of the class (3); General Scholarship Prize (1); Winter Sketch Prize (1); Commencement Honor; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Latin, German; thesis subject, "The Mastery of English Thru Latin;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Westbrook, Maine.

ROSS PARKER CHAMBERLAIN

"Ross"

There isn't much to say about Ross. He speaks for himself, or if he can't say it, he whistles it. Ross has but one tune, like a music box, but his whistle never grows dim. Some people whistle because they are happy, and some because they have been stung. (This is an epigram.) We know absolutely that Ross hasn't been stung. Ross spends his summers as the head of the rapid transit system of the "Hub," having his office near the rear end of car No. Umpty-Steen.

Born at Waltham, Mass., Feb. 12, 1889; fitted at Maine Central Institute; member Massachusetts Club (3, 4); member Jordan Scientific Society (3, 4); Majors, English, German; thesis subject, "Current American Fiction;" degree, A.B.; address, 852 Main Street, Waltham, Mass.

CLARENCE IRVING CHATTO

"CHAT"

Here's a man of whom much might be said, but little will suffice. He has tackled every problem from co-education to ministerial duties, and he has successfully handled them all thus far. He has climbed the heights of Parnassus, and kissed the ink-stained fingers of the muse of scribbling, whatever her name may be. He has introduced an innovation into the religious life of Brunswick, by originating the midnight prayer-meeting. All these things and many more hath he performed, but we forbear.

Born at Sargentville, Maine, August 7, 1886; fitted at Bluehill-George Stevens Academy, Bluehill, Maine; Prize Drills (1, 3); Vice-President Y. M. C. A. (3); President (4); member Piæria; Executive Committee (2, 4); member Spofford Club; Membership Committee (3); President (4); Editor-in-Chief BATES STUDENT (3); Editor-in-Chief MIRROR (4); won debating division (2); championship debate (2); member Bates 1912 vs. M. A. C. team (2); Ivy Day Class Ode (3); Junior Exhibition; Senior Exhibition; Class President (1); Chairman Executive Committee (2); Assistant in Argumentation (4); Freshman Reading Prize (1); Commencement Honor; Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, German, English; thesis subject, "American Songs;" intended occupation, teaching; address, Sargentville, Maine.

CLAIR VINCENT CHESLEY

"CHES"

This is our Poet Laureate—a man of mighty poeticism. He is always "keeping time in a sort of runic rime." Clair is also the Harrison Fisher of Bates College. He can paint anything from a wheelbarrow to the town. We don't know very much about Clair, he is so modest, retiring, and self-conscious that it is pretty hard to pierce the adamantine shell of gravity and see the scintillating soul beneath.

Born at South Paris, Me., Aug. 11, 1889; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn; made prize drill (1, 2); member Y. M. C. A.; Piærian; member Spofford Club (3, 4); Vice-President (4); Artist on MIRROR Board; Class Day "Address to Halls and Campus;" Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English and German; thesis subject, "Heine and Byron;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 254 Turner Street, Auburn, Maine.

RAY ALLAN CLEMENT

"POPE"

This man made the Senior exhibition. At his request we hereby announce it. If anything further comes his way we will issue a special edition free of charge. The Pope has been too busy with his studies to pay much attention to his regular college course, but at whatever he tackled he has certainly made good. For instance, we'd like to have you notice in the college catalog who has scooped in all the scholarship prizes for the last four years, with the Junior Exhibition prize piled on top. But it is a matter of history that for rapid and efficient service the cavalry is a much better branch of the service than the infantry. Clemmy is one of the men who will probably be heard from.

Born at Derry, N. H., June 17, 1887; fitted at Pinkerton Academy; made numerals in Track (3); Prize Drill (2, 3); member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; Assistant on Editorial Board of the BATES STUDENT (1, 2); local editor (3); made prize division in declamations (1, 2); chairman Ivy Day Committee; First Prize Junior Exhibition; Senior Exhibition speaker; Class Vice-President (2); President Science Hall Association (4); Assistant in Latin (4); General Scholarship Prize (1, 2, 3); Coe Scholarship (4); Commencement Honor; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Latin, English, and German; thesis subject, "Horace the Poet of All Time;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Goffstown, N. H.

ARTHUR RUSSELL CLASON COLE

"Cap" "Russ"

Cap isn't anthracite, although he is rather a hard old Cole after all—if you don't believe it, ask some of the centers on other Maine football teams. He comes from Gardiner, which has produced so many Bates athletes. We shall never forget the radiance of Cap's countenance as it shone down to us from the back row in the glee club, or like a torch of victory, blazed at the head of the center rush down to the Maine goal line, when not even the mud of Orono could quench its cheery glow. May your sturdy courage never desert you, old man,—the courage which has led you to face without wavering all the solid lineups that Difficulty could get together.

Born at West Gardiner, July 29, 1885; fitted at Litchfield Academy; entered Bates in the Class of 1910; made numerals (1), made "B" in Football (3, 4); Captain Football Team (4); Prize Drill (1, 2); member athletic arbitration board (4); member Musical Association; Glee Club; Eurosophian; Anvil Chorus Club; Prize Division Declamations (1); Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, English and German; thesis subject, "Industrial Evolution of Germany since 1860;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Gardiner.

GEORGE F. CONKLIN, Jr.

"Conk"

This is Conk. He comes from Bawston, and he sure is some piker. George has had several interesting affairs du coeur during his college course, and we trust that even yet all is not lost. Never mind, George, "It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all." Throughout four years Conk has been one of the standbys of 'varsity football, and is one of the wearers of the "B." In mental gymnastics Conk has also made his mark, for he shared in the honors of Sophomore champion debate, and spouted eloquently in the prize division of declamations.

Born in Albany, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1889; fitted at Roxbury High School; made numerals in Baseball and Basketball (1, 2); made "B" in football (1, 2, 3); member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; member Massachusetts Club; Chairman Executive Committee; Anvil Chorus Club; member Jordan Scientific Society (4); won Debating Division (2); member Sophomore Champion Team (2); Prize Declamation Division (1, 2); Ivy Day Historian; Chairman Class Executive Committee (1); Assistant in Chemistry (4); Congregationalist; Major, Chemistry; thesis subject, "The Nitrogen Problem;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, chemist; address, Roxbury, Mass.

HUBERT PAUL DAVIS

"Dave"

This is Ole Bull the Second. If some night upon the still air you hear wailing out a mournful sound, as of half a hundred felines about to be ushered in to paradisical glory, do not blame Pomeroy or his co-executors, but just remember that it is only Dave turning up for the symphony. We know that Dave will land on top, but then if he should slip, Claramay help him. 1912 is proud to count as one of her members the man who has won real distinction in music, and who wrote the melody for Alma Mater, destined to be forever dear to Bates men.

Born at Sedgwick, Maine, July 2, 1889; fitted at Lewiston High School; Pianist for Prize Drills (2, 3); College Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4), leader (2, 3, 4); Eurosophian, Music Committee (3), Executive Committee (4); Prize Division Declamations (1); Baptist; Prohibitionist; Majors, English, Mathematics, and Physics; thesis subject, "Development of Geometry;" degree, A.B.; address, South Paris, Maine.

WAYNE EDWARD DAVIS

"Pete"

"Wayne Eddie—Vain Eddie!" We see here our twentieth century Demosthenes—persuasive, eloquent, convincing. Hark, from the tombs a doleful sound! as Wayne Eddie begins to orate. Do not be alarmed, it is only Cicero and Daniel Webster struggling to arise and save their reputations. From Lewiston even unto Mechanic Falls this silver-tongued orator is known and loved.

Born at Rochester, N. H., June 8, 1890; fitted at Rochester High School; Prize Drill (1, 2, 3); Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4); reader for musical clubs (3, 4); member Y. M. C. A., Chairman Mission Study Commitee (3), Chairman Bible Study Committee (4); Polymnian Executive Committee (2); Roger Williams Hall Executive Committee (2, 4); Sanitary Commission (1, 2, 3, 4); Spofford Club; social editor Mirror (4); Champion Debate (2), Bates-College of the City of New York Debate (3), Bates-Colgate Debate (4); Prize Division Declamations (1, 2); Prize (2); Ivy Day Orator; Class Executive Committee (4); Assistant in Elocution; Commencement Honor; Free Baptist; Independent; Majors, History, English; thesis subject, "The Economic Factor in History;" degree, A.B.; address, Rochester, N. H.

HELEN ISABEL DEERING

"HELEN"

This is our biology fiend. Such cruelty as Helen displays toward those poor little innocent animals is almost unbelievable of one who is seemingly so kind and gentle. Is it possible that she has lost her heart? This must be the explanation. Oh, ye winds, that blow over the northern part of this state, waft back this lost heart, for the poor, harmless animals perish. Helen is one of the quiet, soft-voiced little bodies who have helped to make 1912's reputation for scholarship.

Born Oct. 19, 1890, at Denmark, Maine. Fitted at Bridgton Academy. Member Y. W. C. A.; Polymnian; President Cheney House Association (4); Junior Exhibition; Congregationalist; Republican; Major, English; thesis subject, "Literature and Life"; degree, A. B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Bridgton, Maine.

CHARLES TRISTRAM DOE

"Charles"

Charles never makes much noise, he is solid and substantial, a jolly good fellow, but he hangs around the fair ones so much we haven't seen very much of him. Bad for your constitution, Charles! He is one of the Elevenites who have joined our ranks, and bids fair to stick by to the finish. Charles comes from the country whence come the big men and the good men, and he is no exception to the rule.

Born at West Parsonsfield, Maine, Dec. 8, 1886; fitted Parsonsfield Seminary; entered Bates, 1907; Prize Drill (3); Member Y. M. C. A. and Piæria; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Latin, Geology-Astronomy; thesis subject, "Philosophy of Cicero's Cato;" degree, A.B.; address, South Effingham, N. H.

ETHEL ELIZABETH DOWNING

"Cap"

Cap is one of the big-hearted, obliging people of 1912. She early won distinction as an athlete, and has kept up her practice by doing a daily dash from Monie's English class to the white trolley pole at the corner of College and Skinner. All records go by the board when Cap sees the car coming. Cap is one of the intellectual lights of the class, with an encyclopædic memory for facts.

Born in Auburn, Feb. 16, 1890; fitted at E. L. H. S. and Hebron Academy; numerals in basketball (2, 3); member Polymnia; member Y. W. C. A.; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, German, English; thesis subject, "Heine as a Nature Poet;" degree, A.B. Address, Auburn, Maine.

MINERVA FRANCES DUNLAP

"Goddess"

Who comes here with queenly tread? Let no one dare approach this goddess of wisdom! Even the all-puissant Pope finds it neeessary to pause now and then in order to get his breath. When Minerva has withstood his adoring sentiments as long as possible, she invites him over to Cheney House and there sings him into everlasting bliss—ah, is it bliss? Anyway, the Pope comes out of the ordeal with a cracked heart and bated breath. Minerva's gracious manner, pleasant smile, and ever-ready tact will always be one of the pleasant memories of her classmates.

Born March 13, 1888, at Bowdoinham, Maine; fitted at Bowdoinham High School; Manager of Hockey (4); Polymnian; President Cheney House Association; Junior Exhibition; Senior Exhibition; Class Secretary (2); Majors, German, English; thesis subject, "The Ihpigenia of Euripides and Goethe"; degree, A. B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Bowdoinham, Maine.

GRACE AMANDA FRENCH

"FRENCHIE"

A jolly good girl from one of the many metropoli (?) surrounding Lewiston. A stalwart, hardy, joyful, out-of-door maiden is this. By the way, how much is the fare to Turner? Oh, yes, it does make some difference whether you know the conductor or not. While Frenchie hasn't made the football team, or been president of anything in particular, she is one of the kind of classmates which we delight to remember in after-college days.

Born at Turner, Maine, Jan. 31, 1891; fitted at Leavitt Institute; Piærian; Universalist; Democrat; Majors, French, German; thesis subject, "Comparison of Beaumarchais, Marivaux, and Rostand;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Turner.

EDWARD HERSEY FULLER

"Eddie"

E. Hersey is a smooth looking guy, isn't he—right out of the bandbox! And, by the way, he pulled the band out of a box, at that. Oh, the majesty of the way in which he removes the trombone from his rosy lips, and with sternly commanding gesture tones down Walt Lane's thunderous bass, or hastens up Liz Abbott on the big drum! When Eddie does anything, he does it thoroughly, and it is as perennial leader of band and orchestra and complete monoplist of committee chairmanships that 1912 will best remember him.

Born at Auburn, Maine, July 3, 1891; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn; Prize Drill (1, 2, 3), Leader (2, 3); member Musical Association, Charter Committee (2); Chairman Executive Committee (2, 3); Vice-President (3), President (4); College Band (1, 2, 3, 4), Manager (1), Leader (2, 3, 4); College Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Manager (2, 3, 4); member Y. M. C. A.; Eurosophian; Music Committee (2, 4), Chairman (4); member λωχσγενφυκνιτυκ; member Jordan Scientific Society (3, 4), President (4); Chairman Class Day Committee; Chairman Class Executive Committee (4); Assistant in Gymnasium (2, 3, 4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Mathematics, Physics, German; thesis subject, "The Fourth Dimension;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, electrical engineering; address, Auburn, Maine.

FLORENCE GRAY

"Dolly"

We wish now to introduce to you one of the seven wonders of the world—a living, moving, breathing student of Bates College, but a student minus that most necessary organism, the heart. Such is her devotion to science that she has given it for the cause of Biological investigation. Dolly is another of the quiet, helpful, industrious, talented girls of the class, and here's success to her.

Born in Toronto, Canada, June 9, 1890; fitted at Jordan High School, Lewiston, Maine; Girls' Glee Club (2, 3); Financial Committee Y. W. C. A. (3, 4); member Eurosophia; Decorating Committee (3); Prize Division declamations (2); Baptist; Majors, English, German; thesis subject, "The Beginning of Literature;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Lewiston, Maine.

BESSIE BONITA HART

"Bessie"

She smiles—a thousand sunbeams play about her face—
She looks—a kindly gleam illumes her eye —
She speaks—soft music wafts through all the place;
And Eben hears her whisper, "It is I!"

This is our latest acquisition and a good bargain it is. She has brought happiness eternal to one of our number, and is not that worth while? It certainly seems so, for whereas before she came poor Eben could hardly summon up courage to cross the campus, he now has been greatly Hart-strengthened and has blazed a trail through the wilderness of Bashfulness to the Home of the Blest. On the whole, we are sorry for Boston University that it couldn't keep her, but what is B. U.'s loss is vastly our gain.

Born at Milton, N. H., March 26, 1889. Fitted at Farmington, N. H. Entered Bates, September, 1910. Girls' glee club (4); member Y. W. C. A.; social committee (4); member Polymnia; Treasurer Woman's Student Council (4); Secretary of the Class (4); Congregationalist; Majors, Latin, English; thesis subject, "Aeneas as a National Hero;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Farmington, N. H.

FREDERIKA ERNESTINE LEWIS HODGDON

"Fred"

We wonder if the supply of appellations ran short down Portland way. It sems thus to be, for two yards of name is far too little for a modest woman who, by predestination, has been assigned the stupendous task of upholding woman's position in the universe. Nevertheless, with this handicap we believe she'll succeed, for loquaciously she can make up for what she lacks appellatiously. Since coming to college Fred's board bill has been very small, for she has lived on math—morning, night, and noon. In spite of the information gleaned from her statistic blank, we believe that her future occupation will be doing fourth dimension stunts on the vaudeville circuit.

Born at Portland, Maine, May 19, 1891; fitted at Portland High School; numerals in Basketball (2, 3); Manager of Girls' Mandolin Club (4); member Y. W. C. A.; Social Committee (2, 3, 4); member Pieria; Treasurer Woman's Student Council (3); Decorating committee (4); Commencement Honor; Universalist; Majors, Mathematics, Chemistry, Latin; thesis subject, "Possibilities of Radium;" A.B. degree; address, Portland, Maine.

WILLIAM HENRY HOOPER

"Bill"

"None but the brave deserve the fare."

This legend refers to our popular corndoctor—excuse us, we mean conductor. Bill was conductor last year, so we hear, and all the Bates students got free rides. Perhaps that fact, combined with the attractions of a job at M. C. I., which isn't far from Dexter, is why Bill isn't conductor now. This is about all we know about Bill, except that he is a good sort of a fellow, throws the hammer a hundred and ten or better, and is one of the foundlings left on the doorsteps of 1912 by our illustrious predecessors

Born at Raymond, Maine, Mar. 5, 1888; fitted at Bridgton Academy; entered Bates in the class of 1911; made numerals in track (2, 3, 4); made "B" in football; member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; made prize declamation division (1, 2); assistant in gymnasium (2, 3, 4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Biology, English; thesis subject, "Evolution To-day"; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, law; address, Gorham, Maine.

HAZEL EGERIA HOWARD

"Hazel"

It wouldn't do to roast Hazel very much, for she is on the Mirror board, and has too good an opportunity to retaliate. And "then agin," there isn't a whole lot that one can say about her anyway, for she has come and gone so unobtrusively among us that there doesn't seem to be anything lingering in our memory to found a roast upon. So we'll have to say something good about her, and that in itself is a pretty good thing to say, isn't it? She has been loyal to the class every minute, and has fought for it in the gym and everywhere else where it needed a defender. We'd like to know if the rumor is true that we have heard all through college, but there, we don't even know his name, so what's the use to ask.

Born in Lewiston, Oct. 18, 1889; fitted at Jordan High School, Lewiston; made numerals in basketball (1, 2, 4); Captain (1, 2); Manager (4); Statistician on Mirror Board; Class Executive Committee (4); Junior Exhibition; Commencement Honor; Universalist; Democrat; Majors, German, English, Mathematics; thesis subject, "Schiller and Goethe, a Contrast;" degree A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 80 Walnut Street, Lewiston, Me.

RUTH TARBELL HUMISTON

"Rufus"

"The most certain sign of wisdom is a continual cheerfulness." Ruth is a cheery optimist, of the quiet kind, to be sure, but real bright, like a ray of sunshine. She has a sister in the Sophomore class, who, unless all signs fail, is destined to follow in her studious, conscientious footsteps. Ruth is a mountain girl from New Hampshire, which is perhaps the reason why she is amounting to so much in college. She is another of the biology specialists, and has a great many talents which she had hidden a little too much under a bushel, allowing her light to shine chiefly in the Spofford Club.

Born at East Jaffrey, N. H., Sept. 10, 1889; fitted at Conant High School; Girls' Glee Club; Secretary Y. W. C. A. (2); member Polymnia; music committee (4); member Spofford Club (3, 4); Class Secretary; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, German, Zoology; thesis subject, "Evidence of Mendelian Inheritance in Man;" A.B. degree; address, East Jaffrey, N. H.

IANTHA IRVINE

"NAN"

Nan is one more of the quiet ones—that give you a feeling that you aren't so sure they are so terribly quiet after all. She has developed at times a vein of originality that has been the delight of her friends. Like all minister's daughters, her home address has changed every year since she has been in college, but wherever she goes there is sure to be thoughtfulness and good-will.

Born at Danforth, July 11, 1889; fitted at Presque Isle High School; Girls' Glee Club (2, 3); member Y. W. C. A.; Vice-President (3); Chairman Membership Committee (3); Chairman Mission Committee (4); member Piæria; Class Executive Committee (3); Methodist; Republican; Major, English; thesis subject, "Development of Children's Literature;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Thomaston, Maine.

FREDERICK PAUL JECUSCO

"Fritz"

Fritz is a big one—so big that in his Freshman year the newspapers gave him the title of the "Cuban giant," perhaps because he had never been to Cuba. The next important thing about Fritz is his never-failing good-nature, for a better-hearted fellow never lived. Fritz has a monopoly of the telephone system at Roger Williams, not that he uses the 'phones so much as that he has a way of getting special favors from central, and has invented a new and original way of holding the line (?) for use on Saturday evenings. (Ring off wild belles). The college has reason to be proud of Fritz, for that broken shoulder last fall testifies to the completeness with which he has dedicated his strength to Alma Mater. Good luck to you, Fritz, wherever you go.

Born at New York City, July 18, 1890; fitted at Ansonia (Conn.) High School; made "B" in Football (2, 3, 4); Prize Drill (1); Class Day Prophet; Catholic; Democrat; Majors, German, Chemistry; thesis subject, "The Manufacture of Wood Silk;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, Chemistry; address, Ansonia, Conn.

ALBERT EATON JENNINGS, Jr.

"Jenny"

Well, well! here's Doc Jennings, Professor of violin music and chemistry—and it is said that Doc can produce precipitation by either method although in the former case the somewhat paradoxical result is produced that not even the sediment of an audience remains. But Doc Jennings' orchestra is all right just the same, and Bates social life will miss the merry strains of his violin as he accompanied the mad whirl of the—but let us restrain our enthusiasm, lest it lead us into dangerous depths! Shall we say, the Virginia reel. Besides his musical achievements, Jenny has made a record as one of the careful dressers and conscientious students of the class.

Born at Farmington, Maine, Oct. 11, 1890; fitted, at E. L. H. S. Auburn, Maine; Indian Club drill (1); Broad Sword drill (3); played trombone in the band, violin in the orchestra; member Y. M. C. A.; member Polymnia; chairman music committee (4); member Jordan Scientific Society; Assistant in Chemistry (4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Chemistry, German; thesis subject, "Artificial and Natural Perfumes;" B.S. degree; intended occupation, industrial chemistry; address, Auburn.

ANNABEL MAE JONES

"Annabel"

You can't get half an idea of Annabel from her picture; there's a whole lot of her, and she is one of the finest girls you ever knew. She is awfully polite, too, for when Monie asks her a question she never fails to give him the required information. Annabel wears a look of care far beyond her years, but then, who wouldn't? It is enough to furrow anyone's brow to run Cheney House for two years.

Born at South China, Me., May 12, 1888; fitted at Oak Grove Seminary; member Y. W. C. A.; religious meetings committee (4); member Piæria; Methodist; Republican; Majors, German, English, Geology — Astronomy; thesis subject, "Goethe's Faust and Byron's Manfred;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, South China, Maine.

FRED HAROLD KIERSTEAD

"FATTY"

Good old Fatty Kierstead. What a jolly good fellow he was—so cheerful, so optimistic! And how we loved his singing—the clear tenor that led the glee club as few could lead it, that always started the chorus on the steps after supper. Ah, well, 'tis thus our friends must leave us—the brightest and the fairest soonest taken. But to go so soon—it is hard to bear. And so we offer this brief tribute to Fatty's memory, who has passed from Bates College and entered into matrimony.

Entered Bates in 1909. Made prize drill (3); Glee Club, leader (3, 4); Member College Quartette; Junior Exhibition. Left Bates in December, 1911. Home, Merrimac, Mass.

ABIGAIL MARGARET KINCAID

"Abbie"

"Late, late, so late! And dark the night and chill!
Late, late, so late! But I can enter still!
Too late! too late! you cannot enter now!"

The roll-call has ended. The recitation has begun. The door is shut. But hark! There comes a rushing as of a mighty wind. The heavy door swings back. An apparition glides across the floor, and Abigail is in her seat! She is fatigued with her long run from the Hall, but when she opens her lips to speak, oh, marvellous! A sweet rythmic breeze of words is wafted straight from the summit of Olympus!

Born in South Portland, Maine, Aug. 4, 1890. Fitted at Portland High School; member Piæria; member Spofford Club (3, 4). Secretary (3); Literary Editor Bates Student; Prize Division declamations (1, 2); Ivy Day poet (3); Class Poet (4); Agnostic; Majors, Greek, Latin, English; thesis subject, "Comparison of Euripides with Ibsen;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, South Portland.

CHARLES CLARK KNIGHTS

"KNIGHTSIE"

This man hails from Marshfield, Mass., a town famous in history as the home of Daniel Webster, and to be known to posterity as the home of the leading chemist of America—namely, Knights. We should like to suggest in passing that, as the United States Bureau of Chemistry is now without a chief, Knightsie be offered the position, as a suitable successor for Doc Wiley. He is known as a famous wit and punster. He is, however, one of our solid men who will be heard from in after years.

Born at Melrose, Mass., May 29, 1891; fitted at Marshfield High School; made Prize Drill (1, 2); member Musical Association; College Band; member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; member Massachusetts Club; member λαιχσγενφυκιτνκ; member Jordan Scientific Society; Assistant in Chemistry; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Chemistry and German; thesis subject, "History of Artificial Dyes;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, industrial chemistry; address, Marshfield Hills, Mass.

JESSE JAMES LAMOREY

"Jess"

What's in a name! Can it be that the class has been harboring an outlaw? No, my son, this is not so. To be sure he has stolen bases, but he has satisfactorily atoned for this by the heroism with which he guarded the ultimate sack. He has recently become conspicuous for his devotion in the search for the solution of the transcendentalistic and psychotherapeautical aspects of the cosmic entities. Jess is always happy, thoroly good natured, and intensely loyal to friends, class, and college.

Born at Isle La Motte, Vermont, Nov. 14, 1888; fitted at Manchester High School, N. H.; made "B" in baseball (1, 2); numerals in basketball (1, 2); relay team (1, 2); Baseball (1, 2); Vice-President Athletic Association (3); member of Y. M. C. A.; member Eurosophia; Baptist; Republican; Major, English; thesis subject, "The American Magazine;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Manchester, N. H.

WALTER EBEN LANE

"Eben"

B'ess 'is dear little Hart! Lanie is a man of many accomplishments. He is vigorous in the band, tuneful in the glee club, and picking up in the banjo club. His ability for leadership has been so marked that the entire class has been willing to fall in line behind the strokes of his masterly baton. Such ability promises for the future a marshaling of the forces of industry so that the dollars will form in line and come in regular procession to his coffers.

Born at Litchfield, Me., Sept. 21, 1887; fitted at Litchfield Academy; entered Bates in the Class of 1911; made Prize Drill (1, 2, 3); member Musical Association (2, 3, 4), Treasurer (4); College Band (2, 3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3, 4); Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4); Banjo Club (4); Gibson String Quartette; member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; member Jordan Scientific Society; Ivy Day Marshal; Class Day Marshal; Universalist; Republican; member of λαιχσγεφνκιτνκ; Majors, German and Chemistry; thesis subject, "The Romance of the Diamond;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Litchfield, Me. R. F. D, 18.

FLOSSIE MAY LEWIS

"Flossie"

This demure miss achieved distinction in scholastic lines long before she arrived upon this campus, and, unlike many of our classmates, she has maintained this reputation throughout her college course. As she has lived at a distance from the campus, it is difficult to comment adequately upon her heart affairs, but it is assumed that she has followed in the footsteps of her feminine contemporaries. Although quiet and unassuming, she possesses the substantial features of character which fit her for a useful place in the world.

Born at Biddeford, Maine. Nov. 12, 1890; fitted at Biddeford High School; member Y. W. C. A., Intercollegiate Committee; Piærian; Free Baptist; Majors, Latin, German; thesis subject, "Education of the Roman Boy;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Biddeford, Maine.

JOSEPH ALOYSIUS LINEHAN

"Joe"

Here's Joe. He is mighty active and energetic, Joe is. In fact, he is such a hustler that he has to cut recitations every little while in order to give the rest of the class a chance to catch up with him. Joe must certainly have kissed the Blarney Stone, for there isn't a jollier, droller, quicker-witted fellow in college than Joe. His philosophy of life is to make a joke about all the hardships—even club board, as witness his famous remark as he rose from table at Science: "Well," says Joe, "the score was nothin' to ate!" Of course a man with that spirit would be popular, and that's Joe.

Born July 26, 1889, at Auburn, Maine; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn; made numerals in Baseball; Catholic; Democrat; Major, Chemistry; thesis subject,, "The Chemistry of the Laundry;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 77 Second Street, Auburn, Maine.

HARRY HAVELOCK LOWRY

"HARRY"

This man is one of the pillars of 1912. His accomplishments would fill a volume. He has thundered forth in debate and has carolled forth—or fifth—on the glee club. He has also wielded the Piærian gavel with thumping success. Harry has a quiet, easy personality, and is safe for any lady to drive. One noteworthy thing about him is that unlike most of the students in college he frequently takes his typewriter with him when he goes out walking. Harry's earnestness, enthusiasm and stick-to-itiveness will make him welcome and admired whereever he goes, and with the inspired eye of the prophecy editor we can see him sitting on the throne of Rhode Island, and letting his feet hang over into Connecticut.

Born at Providence, R. I., April, 1889; fitted at Classical High School, Providence; Indian Club drill (1); Dumb Bell drill (2); Broad Sword drill (3); Vice-President Musical Association; Glee Club (3, 4); Mandolin Club (4); member Y. M. C. A.; Treasurer (4); Chairman Membership and Finance Committee (4); member Piæria; Vice-President (3); President (4); won debate division (2); Champion Debater (2); member of 1912 vs. Mass. Agricultural College team (2); Bates vs. Colgate team (4); Prize Division Declamations (2); Ivy Day Toast, "Sociability;" Class Treasurer (4); Commencement Honor; Assistant in Argumentation (4); Baptist; Republican; Majors, English and History; thesis subject, "The Value of Debating;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Providence, R. I.

HELEN ELIZABETH McGRAW

"Muggsie"

Helen is the Independent-Progressive member of 1912. She doesn't care whether school keeps or not. She lives in Lewiston so we haven't seen as much of her on the campus as we might, but we know her well enough to be sure that she is full of fun and blessed with a vein of sparkling originality which scintillates occasionally or oftener. Helen is going to have her own way at any cost and is willing for others to enjoy a similar privilege, provided they do not interfere with her!

Born in Lewiston, Jan. 18, 1891; fitted at Jordan High School, Lewiston; Roman Catholic; Majors, English, Mathematics; thesis subject, "Browning's Message;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 45 Lowell Street, Lewiston, Maine.

EARLE DULEY MERRILL

"Dooley"

The genial Earl of Madison has been with us for four years as an honored member of our class. He has been very generous with his talents, for which we are duly appreciative. His Paderewski-like manipulation of the ivories has won much applause as well as his melodious tenor, which has gladdened the ranks of the glee club. Dooley has worked hard and deserves the honor which has been given him. For a time his presence has been denied us, as he has been confined by illness. We want him to feel, however, that his classmates have not forgotten him, and extend to him their sincere sympathy.

Born at Madison, Maine, Sept. 1, 1889. Fitted at Madison and Gardiner High Schools; Prize drills (1, 2, 3); glee club (2, 3, 4); member Y. M. C. A., chairman music committee (3, 4); Polymnian; Chairman Sophomore declamation committee; Junior exhibition; Last chapel hymn; Commencement Honor; Methodist; Republican; Majors, Mathematics, English, Philosophy; Thesis subject, "The Ethics of the Labor Problem." Degree, A.B. Intended occupation, educational work. Address, Madison, Maine.

HELEN KATHERINE MESERVE

"Hon"

Now isn't this a coquettish picture? But really it is somewhat deceiving. Hon can look sweet and winsome when she thinks of it, but her elastic forgettery is so tremendously extended that she glides phantomlike about the campus without the slightest consciousness that there are other stars in the universe. The real, fundamental problem to be solved in connection with Hon is this: If there were another girl as sweet as Honey, would Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Kidder? We wish to state here that this atrocious daffydil is not aboriginal with the Mirror, but that it is a fragment of jetsam from the recent minstral show in Polymnia.

Born at Jackson, N. H., Sept. 23, 1888; fitted at Whitefield High School; made numerals in basketball (3, 4); Girls' Glee Club (3, 4); member Piæria; Secretary (2); Executive Committee (3); Decorating Committee (4); Free Baptist; Democrat; Majors, German, Latin; thesis subject, "The Development of Germany as a World Power;" degree A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Jackson, N. H.

ARTHUR CHESTER MORRISON

"Tenor"

This man has, until recently, been a familiar figure upon our campus. The genial, sunny smile and the amiable disposition are missed by his classmates. Tenor was another one of the stars who have helped to light the pathway to fame for the glee club. He has also been much entranced by the study of chemistry which seemed to occupy his spare moments when he was not "Ringing in" at Lewiston. He is one of the busy men of the class who never shirked his duties, and he had laid for himself a foundation upon which to build a career of great usefulness in the world.

Born at Ashland, N. H., Oct. 8, 1886; fitted at Plymouth, N. H., High School; Prize Drill (1); College Band (1, 4); Glee Club (1, 4); member Y. M. C. A., Secretary (2), Cabinet (2, 3, 4); Chairman Handbook Committee (3, 4), Chairman Deputation Committee (4); member Jordan Scientific Society (3, 4); Executive Committee (4); Class Treasurer (2); Assistant in Gymnasium (2, 3); Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, English, Chemistry; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, Y. M. C. A. work; address, Ashland, N. H.

ALVIN STRICKLAND MORSE

"Strick"

Classes may come and classes may go,
But I stay on forever.

Alvin hails from Mechanic Falls. He's mighty swift, but then he never smashes anything. He came to us in the days of yore, and has stuck by the ship manfully. Occasionally, he has been obliged to anchor in other ports for a time, but he has always returned to us faithfully. But now the end is in sight, and soon Strick will claim the reward of perseverance.

Born at Mechanic Falls, Sept. 23, 1887; fitted at Kingfield High School; entered Bates in Class of 1910; member Y. M. C. A.; Eurosophian; Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, English and German; thesis subject, "A Comparison of Goethe's and Marlowe's 'Faust;'" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, educational work; address, Mechanic Falls.

MARY CHADBOURNE MORSE

"Marie"

The sleepy town of Waterford is responsible for this close-mouthed, eagle-eyed student. Never heard her speak? Well, she does when she recites. Mary believes in preserving a great, sweet silence. Cheer up, Mary, silence is golden, and has many advantages, not the least of which is tranquility.

Born Feb. 21, 1888; fitted at Bridgton Academy; member Y. W. C. A., extension committee (3, 4); Polymnian; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Biology, German; Thesis subject, "The Present Application of Eugenics." Degree, A.B. Intended occupation, biological laboratory work. Address, Waterford, Maine.

BEATRICE EVELYN NEAL

"Beatie"

When this lady of few inches arrived among us, we all spotted her at once as a small bundle containing much good, and surely she has proved herself such. She is greatly addicted to the gentle feminine art of athletics, and in this she shines as the stars. She is short, but plucky and full of grit.

Born at Auburn, Maine, Sept. 17, 1889. Fitted at E. L. H. S. Girls' baseball team; captain (2, 3); manager (4); numerals in baseball (2, 3, 4); basketball (1, 2, 3); member Eurosophia. Universalist. Republican. Majors, German, Mathematics. Thesis subject, "The Early History of Mathematics." A.B. degree. Intended occupation, teaching. Address, Auburn, Maine.

FRANK ALEXANDER NEVERS

"Alex"

This long-nosed, eagle-eyed man with the Luther Burbank attitude is Alex. He comes from Aroostook, and this explains much in itself. Alex believes in boosting home industries, and consequently he has ably filled the office of manager of the "spud leaguers." When it comes to an athletic contest, that is where Alex shines. Not on the field—oh, no! He is head rooter on the grandstand. His long arms waving, his tousled hair flying, and his voice husky with commotion will long be remembered. Alex is one of the future giants whose loyalty to his alma mater will doubtless bring her added glory.

Born at Houlton, Maine, Feb. 17, 1889; fitted at Houlton High School; Prize Drill (2); Athletic Association Advisory Board (3); College Band (3); member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; member Student Council (4); member Parker Hall Association, Chairman Executive Committee (4); member Aroostook Club (3, 4), President (4); Bates Student Editorial Board, Business Manager; Ivy Day Committee (3); Class Day Pipe Oration (4); Episcopalian; Independent; Majors, Chemistry, English; thesis subject, "Medicinal Chemistry;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, Medicine; address, Houlton, Maine.

WILHELMINA IRENE NOYES

"Billy"

Ladies and gentlemen: The Company now takes pleasure in presenting to you the human marvel, Miss W. Noyes, Queen Wilhelmina, wonderful strong woman—basket ball and tennis genius. She is a very busy woman and one of the five leaders-in-chief of the famous Auburn quintette. A genuine prize package, all around sport and a taker with both sexes.

Born at Auburn, Maine, June 8, 1890; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn; made numerals in basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Captain (3, 4); President Girls' Athletic Association (4); member Eurosophia; Universalist; Democrat; Majors, Latin, German, Mathematics; thesis subject, "The German School System;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teacher of gymnastics; address, 9 Vernon Street, Auburn, Me.

MARY PINGREE

"Mary"

Here we have a product of the Bay State, and all thing being considered, the Bay State has done a pretty good stunt in sending us this member of our class. In fact, Mary is one of the most weighty members that we have. When she first found time to come among us she was possessed of a wild desire to study, but since that time she has discovered that her real talent lies in the direction of fussing. Did you say, a perfect angel? Yes, if you give her plenty of room and then some. But 1912 has not had a more faithful member than Mary.

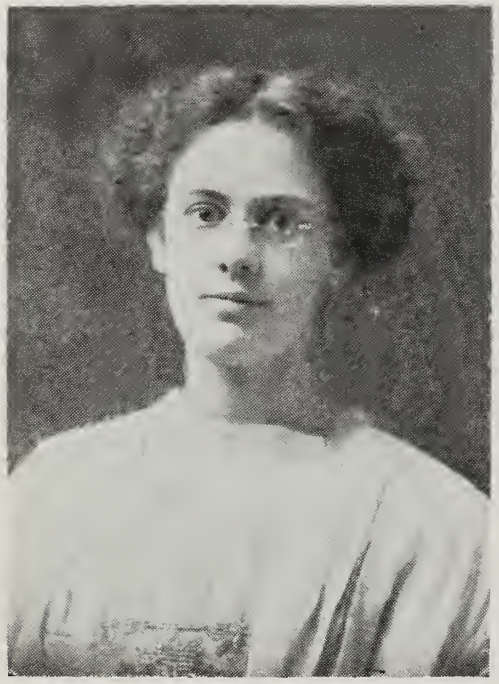
Born at Lewiston, Maine, Jan. 18, 1891. Fitted at Lawrence High School, Falmouth, Mass. Numerals in basketball (1, 3, 4); Executive Committee Girls' Athleic Association (2); member Y. W. C. A.; chairman poster committee (4); Assistant in Gymnasium; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, German; thesis subject, "The Passion Play at Oberammergau." A.B. degree. Intended occupation, teaching. Address, Boston, Mass.

CLARAMAY PURINGTON

"Claramay"

This is another of our sweet singers, which is to be understood in two ways—first, that she sings sweetly, and second that she is—but there, what is the use to try to write brilliant things for this Mirror if we have to explain them all! She belongs to the choir along with Caruso Bassett, and Sousa Nickerson. She also quite frequently plays second fiddle to Fiddling Hube in the symphony. She hails from West Bowdoin, where she reigns supreme. We all know her—smiling countenance, merry laugh, and pleasant manner. Likewise we all like her. (Don't get jealous, Hube). Her picture really makes her look too sedate.

Born at Boston, Mass., Nov. 2, 1890; fitted at Lisbon Falls High School; member Girls' Glee Club (2, 3, 4); member Y. W. C. A.; Chairman Social Committee (3); member Piaeria, Assistant Secretary (2); Secretary Girls' Student Council (3, 4); Assistant on "Student" Board (2, 3); Class Day Ode; Class Executive Committee (2); Commencement Honor; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English and German; Thesis subject, "Wagner's Heroines"; Degree A. B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, West Bowdoin, Maine.



FRANCENA QUIMBY

"Franc"

That awfully busy girl with no system! Talk about burning the midnight oil, she's right there. In fact, it is whispered that her hurry was so great that she had no time to follow up her affair du coeur, and so after a brief visit, Cupid died in her heart of starvation. Franc is one of the jolliest girls in the class noted for its jolly girls, and she has contributed not a little to the bright memories of college days.

Born at Auburn, Maine, May 3, 1888; fitted at Edward Little High School, Auburn, Maine; entered Bates in 1907; joined 1912 in September, 1909; member Girls' Glee Club, Y. W. C. A.; Piæria; Junior Exhibition; Congregationalist; Progressive Republican; Majors, History, Mathematics; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Auburn, Me.

ALBERT AYER RAND

"JOKE"

"His life was one continual joke." Albert is the most inveterate joker who ever lived. His method is simple, yet effective; he button-holes his victim, drags him into a corner, and then in cold blood inflicts upon him something like this: "If Clement has lain upon Mount Olympus, where has Ross Chamber–lain?" Think of it! "Joke's" great reputation as a wit rests upon sundry post-prandial speeches and upon productions from his facile pen, some of which adorn these columns.

Born at Dover, N. H., Dec. 12, 1889; fitted at Dover High School; member Y. M. C. A., Deputation Committee (4); Piærian; member Spofford Club (4); statistics and personals on the MIRROR Board; Commencement Honor; Free Baptist; Republican; Majors, English, German; thesis subject, "Romanticism vs. Realism;" degree, A.B.; address, Bradford, Mass.

MARY EVANGELINE REDMAN

"Van"

Well, here's the van of the class. The van guard isn't far away either—alphabetically and actually. To find it, you have but to Turn-er page or two. Van is from Newport Junction, which, while it isn't quite the Acadia of one other Evangeline, is a pretty good place to change cars at just the same.

Born at Hampden, Maine, March 14, 1889; fitted at Presque Isle High School; made numerals in Basketball (1); Chairman Executive Committee Girls' Athletic Association (4); member Polymnia; Secretary (2); president Woman's Student Council (4); Class Secretary (1); Congregationalist; Democrat; Majors, German, French; thesis subject, "Rousseau's Democracy;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Newport, Maine.

WILLIAM FREDERICK REMMERT

"Bugs"

"Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown!"

This is ex-President Remmert, of Stafford. His administration was of but twenty-four hours' duration, but it was a brilliant exhibition of statesmanship. President Remmert's chief official act was the elevation of Roscoe Conklin to the illustrious position of chairman of the prayer-meeting committee. Remmie's deep baritone has covered him with glory, and added another to our list of vocalizers. As quarterback his athletic prowess and good generalship has contributed to many victories for the college.

Born at Holyoke, Mass., April 9, 1891; fitted at Stafford, Conn., High School; made numerals in Baseball (1, 2); Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Track (1, 2, 3, 4); made "B" in Football (2, 3, 4); captain second team in Baseball; College Band; Glee Club; Mandolin Club; Banjo Club; College Quartette; member Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President of the Class (3); Assistant in Gymnasium (2, 3, 4); Universalist; Majors, Chemistry, English; thesis subject, "Modern Assaying;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, Chemist; address, Stafford, Conn.

CARL TRACY RHOADES

"Pete"

In the fall of 1907 there came from M. C. I. to Bates a quiet, unassuming, yet purposeful young man. Besides paying careful heed to his work, he gave considerable attention to the surveying of Prospect Hill. It was our good fortune at the beginning of Sophomore year, to welcome Pete to the fellowship of 1912. He rapidly rose in popularity and prominence until he attained to the Presidency in the Senior year. Of course it is well remembered that he is greatly indebted to one of the fair ones for the presentation of his name for the office. Yet there is no man in the class who can smile more sweetly on the ladies, enter more heartily into the life of the college or more thoroughly master the problems of science than Rhoades of Harmony.

Born at Harmony, Maine, June 29, 1889; fitted for college at Maine Central Institute. Entered Bates in the Class of 1911; made numerals in basketball (2); Prize drill (1, 3); member Y. M. C. A. handbook committee (2); Piærian, chairman executive committee (4); vice-president Roger Williams Hall Association (3), president (4); member Jordan Scientific Society (3, 4), chairman executive committee (4); Class president (4); Commencement Honor; Baptist; Republican; Majors, English, Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics; thesis subject, "The Relation of Chemistry to the Conservation of Natural Resources;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Harmony, Maine.

ALICE HELEN RICHARDS

"Dick"

Such a youthful student, and so shy! She is a rival of Roxie for the place of class prodigy. Youth, unsophistication, reserve, are her characteristics. She is a staunch supporter of Cheney House, but a greater marvel is yet to appear, for she is a genuine man-hater, a being somewhat foreign to Bates. East Livermore is to be congratulated, on the whole, for having sent to Bates a student who has so early won honors and a proud place upon the roster of 1912.

Born at East Livermore, Me., Oct. 19, 1892; fitted at Livermore Falls High School; member Y. W. C. A.; member Polymnia; Methodist; Republican; Major, German; thesis subject, "Classical Influence on Goethe;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, East Livermore.

FLORENCE ANNIE RIDEOUT

"Florence"

Who would ever guess from looking at her picture that she is an abridged edition of the Encyclopaedia Brittanica. However, she has been quite big enough to hold up the presidential sky of the Y. W. C. A. upon her shoulders this year, and she has held it up in good style, too. Florence is one of those quiet, unassuming girls, whose friendship is a boon desired by all.

Born at Norway, Maine, Feb. 18, 1890. Fitted at Norway High School; Member Y. W. C. A., president (4); Polymnian; member Spofford Club; Exchange editor Bates Student; Ivy Ode; Baccalaureate hymn; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English and History; Thesis subject, "The Novel with a Purpose." Degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching. Address, Norway, Maine.

CHRISTINA ISABELL RING

"CHRISTINA"

The personal editor tells us that Christina's mind is far away 'mid the hills of old New Hampshire. How about it? The divinity that sorts out surnames evidently intended her to be a telephone girl. We even heard one of the fellows say the other day, "Say, do you know my Ring?" but we hardly think it has got so far as that yet. Christina is one of the Greek and English sharks, but even that hasn't spoiled her, as she is a quiet, gentle, lovable maiden.

Born at Auburn, Maine, Jan. 31, 1890; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn, Maine; member Y. W. C. A.; Polymnia; Universalist; Republican; Majors, German, Chemistry, English; thesis subject, "The German Emperor;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 67 Walnut Street, Lewiston.

MELISSA FLORA ROBINSON

"Bob"

"Oh, Melissa, put on your bonnet,
With the flower garden on it,
And I'll get out my auto right away.
And from Pittsfield down to Dover
Through smiling fields of clover
We'll go chug-chug-hugging all the way.

"Canna ye hear it?" This tune merrily whistled among the shady maples of the campus as Ross goes down to breakfast. Rob is one of the faithful and fortunate (?) few who spend their summers at Poland Spring sitting on the cool lawns and imbibing the beneficent waters from Hi Ricker's old oaken bucket. 'Nuf said! Amen!

Born at Dover, Feb. 4, 1891. Fitted at Foxcroft Academy; numerals basketball (2); Vice-President Girls' Athletic Association (3); Assistant Treasurer (4); Girls' Glee Club (3, 4); member Y. W. C. A.; member Piæria; Congregationalist; Republican; Major, German; thesis subject, "Goethe as Revealed in 'Faust';" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Dover, Maine.

HAROLD TRIBOU ROSELAND

"Rosie"

There are two things which make the little town of Unity famous. One is our beloved Prex, and the second is Rosie. This man has chiefly distinguished himself as an indefatigable talker and a voracious eater, being a loyal member of the Science Hall Club. Rosie is one of our faithful students who always sees the rosy side of the dark cloud. By the way, just ask him to tell you about how Prex told the cow to "desist!"

Born at Unity, Maine, Feb. 2, 1890; fitted at Freedom Academy; Congregationalist; Democrat; Major, Geology, Astronomy; thesis subject, "The San Francisco Earthquake;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, business; address, Unity, Maine.

ADA ROSENBURG ROUNDS

"Ada"

Ada has had her hands full ever since her Freshman year trying to lead Wayne Eddie in the straight and narrow way. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak, and so while we praise her intention we doubt her success. Her character and appearance are well expressed by her middle name, Rosenburg, which, being interpreted, signifies "The rose of the burg." And Mechanic Falls is some burg, at that. (For further particulars see Davis, W. E.)

Born at Mechanic Falls, Maine, January 4, 1890; fitted at Mechanic Falls High School; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); leader (4); member Piæria, chairman music committee (4); class executive committee (2); Christian Scientist; Republican; Majors, German, English, Mathematics; thesis subject, "The Emancipation of the German Woman;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 69 Elm Street, Mechanic Falls, Maine.

HARRY WILLSON ROWE

"MUTT"

Congratulations are due Harry. Oh, no, not that yet. We refer to his job as Field Secretary of Christian Endeavor. It's a mighty fine job and a mighty fine Rowe, too. Harry is rather short on hair but long on stories. It is rumored that someone has stolen some of his best sermons. Keep the barrel covered up, Harry.

Harry, you know, used to be spiritual adviser for Lisbon Falls, heart adviser for Milliken House, and now is joke adviser for the MIRROR. Considering everything, we sure do think a lot of our Baldheaded Rowe just the same.

Born at Mercer, Maine, Nov. 13, 1887; fitted at Maine Central Institute; member Y. M. C. A., Chairman Northfield Committee (3), Chairman Social Committee (4); Polymnian, Treasurer (3), Chairman Executive Committee (4); Chairman Roger Williams Hall Sanitary Commission (2, 3, 4); Bald Headed Man's Club (3½, 4), Scribe (4); statistics and personals on MIRROR Board; Bates-Clark debating team (4); first prize in Declamations (1), Prize Division (2); Ivy Day Toast-master; Class Day "Farewell Address;" Second Prize, Junior Exhibition; Class Executive Committee (2); Vice-President Bates Prohibition League (3); Baptist; Republican; Majors, Biblical Literature and Religion, English; thesis subject, "The Incarnation of God in Christ;" degree, A.B; intended occupation, religious work; address, Pittsfield, Me.

VERNA MARITTA SAWTELLE

"VERNA"

Here is another of the Faithful Five from Auburn, and longitudinally the greatest of the lot, and she is a partaker in the scholastic excellence of the other four. As a walking directory of the stunning fellows of Bates, this young lady is also very useful. Verna is an indefatigable student, a fluent talker, a society favorite, and a member of the class who will long be noted for her devotion to 1912.

Born in Lewiston, Me., July 16, 1888; fitted at E. L. H. S., Auburn, Maine; member Eurosophia; Commencement Honor; Free Baptist; Majors, German, Mathematics; thesis subject, "Germany's National Epic;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, 2 Grove Street, Auburn, Maine.

ANGIE SMITH

"ANGIE"

"For the Dickey bird is singing in the Amfulala tree!"

When it comes to ornithology Angie is continually on the job, and has collected one very promising specimen. Her devotion to this pursuit is equalled only by her love for math. Angie hails from Connecticut, the wooden nutmeg state, but that, of course is an accident, and something which she is not responsible for. However, take it from us, Maine is the best state to live in after all, and cathedrals are far preferable to nutmegs. Think it over, Angie.

Born at Woodbury, Conn., May 31, 1889. Fitted at Mitchell High School. Tennis manager (4). Junior Exhibition. Episcopalian. Majors. Mathematics, English. B.S. degree. Intended occupation, teaching. Address, Woodbury, Conn.

LEONARD SEYMOUR SMITH

"Smithy"

Leonard comes from Shelburne Falls, the metropolis of western Massachusetts, and from present indications, it is likely to make Boston go some for the first place on the all-Massachusetts team. It's some place all right, but it is a lonely old town when Smithy's away. Smithy is a born manager. He has managed the musical clubs for two years in a way which has developed them beyond the wildest dreams of previous seasons; he has managed the Mirror, and the Bald Headed Man's Club, all three of which included pretty nearly all the universe, and now he's going back to manage Shelburne Falls, which brings us back to the prophecy with which we started and shows our reason for it—that Smith and Success begin with the same letter.

Born at Ashfield, Mass., Feb. 14, 1889; fitted at Arms Academy, Shelburne Falls, Mass.; made numerals in baseball (1, 2); basketball (1, 2); member Musical Association; Executive Committee (3); Chairman (4); Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Mandolin Club (4); Banjo Club (4); Assistant Manager Musical Clubs (2); Manager (3, 4); member Y. M. C. A. and Piæria; Massachusetts Club; Secretary (2); President (4); Business Manager Mirror; Class Executive Committee (4); Class Day Committee (4); Baptist; Progressive Republican; Majors, English, History; thesis subject, "Effect of Current Literature upon Society;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, business; address, Shelburne Falls, Mass.

ROXANNA ELIZABETH SPILLER

"ROXIE"

About nineteen years ago, more or less, in the metropolis of East Barrington (it's on the map) was born this prodigy. She could speak six languages and read as many more before she graduated from kindergarten. Roxie was intended by fate to be a railroad man, but she finds consolation in singing the adventures of engineers and firemen. Although Roxie hasn't been distinguished very much along social lines she has certainly the biggest bow in college.

Born at Chichester, New Hampshire, Nov. 2, 1892; fitted at Dover High School; member Y. W. C. A., Missionary Committee; Polymnian; member Spofford Club; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, Mathematics, English; thesis subject, "The Function of Fiction"; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, East Barrington, New Hampshire.

CHARLES NASON STANHOPE

"Chuck"

Chuck is our little angel child. He sits so still in classes and in chapel that you would never know he is around, but suddenly all is altered: our angel child's mouth begins to point skyward at the extremities, the earth begins to quake, and suddenly, with a tremendous roar, his face becomes one substantial smile, in which he is always accompanied by Saint Paul, the Blameless, his inseparable companion. Tell us the joke, Stan, so we can laugh, too.

Born at Charleston, Maine, June 21, 1889; fitted at Foxcroft Academy; Capt. Roger Williams Hall baseball team (2, 3); made numerals in baseball (2); member Musical Association; College Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Glee Club (1, 4), assistant manager (1); Mandolin Club (1, 4), assistant manager (1); Banjo Club (4); Orchestra (2, 3, 4); member Y. M. C. A.; Piaerian; member Spofford Club (4); class officer Roger Williams Hall Association (2); Ivy Day Part, "Damsels"; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, Zoölogy; thesis subject, "The Problem of Immunity"; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, physician and surgeon; address, 6 South Street, Dover, Maine.

JOSEPHINE BARKER STEARNS

"Jo"

Jo comes from the stony hillsides of Norway. That's where the stone in Jo's ring came from, too. Josephine has been one of the happy, jolly girls of the class all the way thru four long years, which culminated with the measles at last,—she has been a college girl for all there is in it, and now she says she is going to settle down and teach! Hm—perhaps.

Born at Lovell, Maine, April 3, 1890. Fitted at Norway High School. Captain Girls' Baseball Team; member of Girls' Musical Association; Mandolin Cub (4); member Y. W. C. A.; cabinet member (4); member Polymnia; statistician on MIRROR Board; Class Executive Committee (1); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, French; thesis subject, "Recent Tendencies in Modern Fiction;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Norway, Maine.

MARY RUTH SWEETSER

"Ruth"

Here's Ruth, large as life and very Sweet-ser.

Ruth is quite a vocalist,
A fairer ne'er was seen.
But all the tune that she can sing
Is "Wearin' of the Green."

Oh, well, Dartmouth's all right, of course.

Ruth has distinguished herself and the class in many ways. She is athlete, wit, student, and above all is Monie's court of the last resort.

Born in Stoneham, Mass., August 25, 1891. Fitted for college at E. L. H. S., Auburn, Maine; numerals in basketball (4); Secretary Girls' Athletic Association (2); member Eurosophia; secretary (2); flower committee (4); member Woman's Student Council (4); Chairman Reading-Room Committee (4); Commencement Honor; Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, History, Mathematics, English; thesis subject, "History of the Fisheries Question;" A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Hollis, N. H.

MARGARET THURSTON TUBBS

"Bucket"

How can one best tell "The Tale of a Tub (bs)?" And especially one about which there is so much that might be said. Margaret has won the respect of her classmates by her devotion to home and to the class. Margaret is a girl with lofty ideals and high purposes. She distinguished herself as the prophetess on Ivy Day, when she dealt so gently with her classmates that they hope that all her prophesies will come true. She came to us the farthest of any member of our class, and we rejoice in her as our one Pan-American member.

Born at Puebla, Mexico, April 22, 1891; fitted at High Schools of Marion, Ohio, and Lewiston, Maine; member Y. W. C. A., Bible Study Committee; Prize Division in Declamations (1); "Class Prophecy," Ivy Day (3); Majors, History, German; thesis subject, "Geography as Affecting the History of the South;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Lewiston, Maine.

JOHN RICHARD TUCKER

"Dick"

Here's Dick. He is from Litchfield. Litchfield is noted for two things: its cathedral,—according to Monie—and Dick—according to us. We don't know much about the cathedral, having taken the test long ago on all that stuff, but we do know a few things about Dick. He is a gymnasium specialist, having done all the stunts from somersaults to high bar tumbling, and added to his laurels by coaching some of the underclass men to go and do likewise. No, we positively refuse! We wish it distinctly understood that we are not going to spring that old gag about Angie Smith's being all Tuckered out. What's that got to do with Dick, anyway?

Born at Litchfield, Me., Dec. 11, 1887; fitted at Litchfield Academy; made Prize Drill (1, 2, 3); member Y. M. C. A.; Polymnian; member Jordan Scientific Society; Assistant in Gymnasium (4); Universalist; Republican; Majors, Mathematics and Chemistry; thesis subject, "Modern Explosives;" degree, B.S.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Litchfield, Maine.

CLAIR ELSMERE TURNER

"Doc"

Well, here's Clair, biologist, business man, orator, debater, society president, musician His talents are more even than the Scriptural ten, and he hasn't hidden his light under a bushel or buried it in a napkin either. (Did you notice anything wrong wtih that figure? It doesn't seem to be just right somehow.) So it's rather hard to tell where to begin the process of roasting him. In the first place he is a private tooter. Toots once in a while in public, too. Belongs to the Masons and, though he isn't a Redman, he is the next thing to it. Is assistant in Bugology, dogfishology, and catology. On the whole, there is no fellow in 1912 whose influence will be more felt upon the college after he has left it, than our beloved Doc.

Born at Harmony, Maine, April 28, 1890; fitted at Maine Central Institute; made numerals in track (1); Prize Drill (1); member Musical Association, President (3); Band (1, 2, 3, 4), Manager (2, 3, 4); Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Polymnian, President (4); member Student Council (3, 4); member Spofford Club (4); member Jordan Scientific Society (3, 4), Secretary (4); Literary Editor BATES STUDENT; champion debate (2); Bates, '12 vs. M. A. C. team (2), Bates-Clark team (3), Bates-Colgate team (4); prize division declamations (1); Class Day oration; Junior exhibition; Commencement Honor; Class Vice-President (4); Assistant in Biology (4); Congregationalist; Republican; Majors, English, Biology; thesis subject, "The Power of Environment;" degree, A.B.; address, Harmony, Maine.

BELLE LOUISE TWOMBLY

"Tommy"

If a lassie met a laddie, it is perfectly proper to spend a year in his company, isn't it, Belle? Ah, them was the happy days!—but when the laddie has departed, oh, sadness—oh, empty world! But we think that she had taken the proper course, for could one's senior year be spent in a more uplifting—a more comforting way than in gathering first-hand information relating to the germ theory as applied to measles, with delightful little side excursions into the tantalizing recesses of the Swedish language?

Born in Manchester, N. H., Nov. 15, 1890; fitted at Manchester High School; Treasurer Y. W. C. A. (3); member Polymnia; artist on Mirror Board; Congregationalist; Republican; Major, English; thesis subject, "Literature and Life; A.B. degree; intended occupation, teaching; address, Reed's Ferry, N. H.

WALTER HARRISON WALSH

"Walshy"

Oh, what is so rare as a day with June? In Walsh's case we disagree with the sentiment implied. It isn't rare—it's overdone. Walter is one of the derelicts left stranded upon the shores of time by the passing of 1911. We took pity upon him and anchored him securely again, ah, yes, more securely than we dreamed. He now feels perfectly at home with us, and has given complete allegiance to the glorious class of 1912. Walshy hails from Somersworth, N. H. It isn't a very big place, but perchance, it is big enough to hold him and maybe one more. Here's hoping, at any rate.

Born at Hartford, Vt., July 25, 1888; fitted at Somersworth, N. H., High School; entered Bates in Class of 1911; member Y. M. C. A.; Piærian; Congregationalist; Republican; Major, German; thesis subject, "The Problem of the Working Man's Insurance in Germany;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Spencer, Mass.

LENORA GOLDIE WEBBER

"Lee"

"Je ne veux pas parler," said Lenora. This is all the satisfaction our reporter obtained from her when he tried to pursuade her to talk about her experiences in the South. Perhaps our Maine winters are too much for her constitution and by-laws. Lee was beached upon our shores when the ship of 1911 went down, but she has thus far in her deportment showed herself worthy to become a member of 1912, and so the class is no loser by her acquisition.

Born June 15, 1889, at York, Maine; fitted at York High School; entered Bates with the Class of 1911; Piærian; Congregationalist; Republican; Major, German; thesis subject, "The Composition of Goethe's 'Faust;'" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, York Village.

WHEATIE CLARE WHITMAN

"Wheatie"

Here's a member of the class of whom we know comparatively little except that she lives on College Street and puts down her future occupation as undecided. No, don't bother to look in her statistics, for we didn't print it. But, wherever she goes and whatever she does, we feel sure that her ready smile and prompt cheerfulness will brighten even the most Barron shores.

Born at Lewiston, May 13, 1889; fitted at Lewiston High School; member Y. W. C. A.; Eurosophian ; Universalist ; Republican : Majors, German, Semitic Literature ; thesis subject, "Music and the Christian Religion"; degree, A.B.; address, 95 College Street, Lewiston, Maine.

HOWARD ABNER WELCH

"Little Minister"

In arguing, too, the parson has some skill,
For e'en tho' vanquished he can argue still.

We have before us now the Little Minister, a man of giant intellect, but of small stature. The towers of Lisbon have shaken under his winds of doctrine, like a second earthquake; the walls of Sabattus have been bombarded with the shells of his eloquence; the rocks of Rockland have cried out in fear at his approach; and even upon wicked Lewiston have the vials of his wrath been outpoured. Howard may be recognized by the sombre handkerchief about his neck, known as the "Mysterious Rag." Howard has been our perpetual class chaplain and for this should be given him all the prays.

Born at North Attleboro, Mass., Nov. 15, 1887; fitted at North Attleboro High School; member Y. M. C. A.; Piaerian; Massachusetts Club; Ivy Day Chaplain; Class Day Chaplain; Commencement honor; Baptist; Republican; Majors, Philosophy, Language; thesis subject, "Brain and Soul"; degree, A.B.; intended occupation, ministry; address, 34 Arnold Street, North Attleboro, Mass.

DONNA LILLIAN YEATON

"Don"

We have here one of the two representatives who serve to keep the metropolis of Belgrade fresh in our memory—to keep its memory green, as it were, altho by that no disrespect is insinuated toward Belgrade. She began her career at Colby, but for that she may be forgiven, for she has largely outgrown it. Don should be congratulated for her faithful hospital work done in behalf of the Y. W. and incidentally of the Y. M. C. A. Her greatest fame, however, rests in the fact that she is the sister of Caruse, the world-famous tenor.

Born in Belgrade, Maine, in 1891; fitted at Belgrade High School; Girls' Glee Club (3, 4); member Polymnia; Executive Committee (3); Decorating Committee (4); Vice-President Woman's Student Council (4); Class Day Prophecy for Women; Episcopalian; Democrat; Majors, German, Latin; thesis subject,"Comparative Study of Stephen Phillips' 'Faust' and Goethe's 'Faust;'" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, teaching; address, Belgrade, Maine.

PAUL MURRAY YEATON

"CARUSE"

This, ladies and gentlemen, is the last thing on the program. Last, but not least. Indeeed, Caruse may be regarded as a fitting close to this symposium of 1912—almost a tight-fitting close as it were. Paul distinguished himself in the Strange Adventure of the Transfers and is known incidentally as the "Hero of Auburn Heights." He is performing with zeal a great work of love over there, and is laying the foundations for his future happiness. Caruse is especially noted for his sky-lark voice and for his solemn and reverent attitude in chapel. In addition to the above, we cannot refrain from mentioning Paul's masterly work as Printer's Devil for the MIRROR. Whatever may be his shortcomings, Paul's good points certainly predominate in his character, and his unfailing good humor makes him a favorite with all.

Born at Belgrade, Maine, March 29, 1889; fitted at Belgrade High School; Prize Drill (2); member Musical Association, secretary (3); college band (1, 2, 3, 4); glee club (1, 2, 3, 4); orchestra (3, 4); Polymnian; Baptist; Democrat; Major, English; thesis subject, "Edgar Allan Poe;" degree, A.B.; intended occupation, business; address, Belgrade.

Class History

"Of man's first disobedience, and the fruit
Of that forbidden tree" we all know well,
For Monie sings it oft with jovial voice;
Monie, the Muse of David's lofty mount,
Whom now I call with humble suppliance
To guide my uncertain feet amidst the maze
Of 'wildering verses, worthy of my theme.
I need a Heavenly Muse like him, for lo,
Who e'er attempted such a theme as mine,
The glories of the heroes of "Thirteen."
To sing the victories of a glorious band
Which never knew defeat where e'er they stood,
That needs, indeed, a happy Heavenly Muse.
We met on an historic autumn day,
With unabashed, back-country stare we looked:
Saw in ourselves a glorious, mighty force
That when united should win countless fields,
And we have lived to see our triumphs rise
Above the deeds of wiser fools than we.
Unconquered and superior we stand,
Invincible, supreme, since that first game
When we hurled headlong from their heights of hope
Those lesser angels who our ruin planned,
Those lesser angels of old Nineteen Twelve.
First place, by merit worthy, hold we yet,
And every meet and every game is ours.
The gods smile sweetly seeing us succeed,
And bless us still, and lead to victory.
We rest not idly on past laurels won,
But ever strive for honors fresh and bright;
United stand as from the first, and sing
The glorious greatness of Nineteen Thirteen.

Class History

We, the illustrious class, whose virtues never are ended,
Celebrated, learned, renowned, the Sophomore Class of Bates College
Claim now our place in its history. The fame of our members is varied—
Music and reading, athletics, debating, scholarship and preaching.
Singers that form a large part of the Glee Club, with voices sonorous,
Readers that cause worthy Seniors to look in fear to their laurels,
Athletes that make their competitors shake and draw back in astoundment.
Last fall on Garcelon Field, we won the game from the Freshmen,
Though really this is but one of the many events to our credit.
The record established and held at the Inter-class Track Meet in April
In the contest of throwing the hammer was won by a Sophomore.
But do not think that our class is devoted alone to athletes,
Or that nothing beyond or higher is sought by its members,
For some stars in our class take their places among the great scholars,
Scholars, no doubt, whom the wide world later will hear of.
'14 not only boasts of a Parson, but likewise a poet of known reputation
Whose verses, sonnets, and lyrics would shame other Poets to silence.
May each one strive for the highest, and work out his greatest ambitions,
May each one keep up the word which has already been set before us,
So that we may say with wholeheartedness: "Three for the blue and the garnet."

Class History

THE wonders of the world will never cease. That is the sentiment that we felt when we found that our history was to come forth from the pen of one of our own members, and just think of it!—without the overseeing kindness of 1914. But then we always did have "an opinion" of them, at least.

Well, as we are still Freshmen, we must guard our thoughts of 1914; for who can tell but what some of them may decide to graduate with us, and, perhaps a few of them will honor us by their presence next year, as they are already taking an active interest in our classes at the present time. How wise they are to affiliate themselves with the class that is making history.

Why, yes, didn't you hear about the class rush last fall? The "Sophs" do not care to mention it, but who can blame them, poor souls. The game—well, it was a good one—we failed to attain to the honors of the diamond and the "Sophs" failed to carry us off the field. Tit for tat, you see. However, several of our men have been found valuable enough for the 'varsity team.

Swinging Indian Clubs is a favorite stunt for us and our ability to do it is substantiated by the fact that we won first prize in the competitive squad drills at the annual indoor meet. Oh! yes, and we have a relay team who were not satisfied in defeating Bowdoin's invincible stars here at home, but went to Brunswick and repeated the act.

To-day we stand as the very salt of the earth. Some of our number have tarried or dropped by the way, proving to themselves and to the world that "a horse" sometimes loses its footing, especially at the critical periods of necessity.

This little article would indeed be incomplete, but for the mention of Professor Stanton, his beaming countenance and his interest for the welfare of the entering class. Never can we forget his kindness, and the enjoyable class ride in the early fall. To know him is to become a true student of our institution, bringing us to a realization of the opportunities given us, and living the life worth while.

EUROSOPHIA has the distinction of being the oldest of the three Literary Societies at Bates, being incorporated the same year that the Maine State Seminary became Bates College.

For the last year or two, Eurosophia has not been as strong in point of membership nor in general influence as formerly. During the official year 1911-1912, however, interest has been awakened, the membership has been greatly increased and the outlook seems very bright for the future of Eurosophia.

Special attention has been given to dramatics and music, considerable talent being shown in both of these lines of activity.

POLYMNIA began the year with the largest membership of any society and has more than held her position by taking in the largest number of members during the current year. The programs have been balanced, interesting and well adapted to the present condition of society life in the college. This year as well as last, the society has furnished half of the men who participated in intercollegiate debate.

Polymnia has felt the need of changes in some directions and has begun, in conjunction with the other societies, a movement to admit no student to the regular meetings of the society unless he be a member in good standing. This, it is believed, will strengthen the fellowship of each society and enable it to do more consistent work.

THERE is no more characteristic element in Bates student life than the presence of our three Literary Societies. They have been responsible for much of the success of Bates graduates as public speakers and leaders of men, and have served socially to compensate to some extent for the absence of college fraternities

Piæria is the youngest of the societies, having been founded in 1897. She has even striven for literary and musical development of her members. Much emphasis has always been placed upon extemporaneous speaking, but musical programs have been frequent. Consequently, success in public speaking has become very general among Piærians and our Alma Mater has been represented by successful intercollegiate debaters from this society.

Because of the growth of Bates, and the consequent need of more specializing by members of the upper classes, organizations for the leading scientists, debaters, and literary men and women have been formed. But this change has made the Societies more useful to those of the lower classes, and the place they are capable of holding cannot be filled in any other way. The opportunities here given for first attempts at appearing before audiences, and subsequent progress toward efficiency in public address, are invaluable.

Hence, may our Literary Societies never lose their place! May they be improved as the changes in opportunities and needs require, but may they ever remain to aid and encourage Bates men and women who seek literary, musical, or social development! May Piæria ever hold to her high ideals, clinging to her noble motto, "Be your ain sel."

THE past year has seen the Young Men's Christian Association assume the dignity and importance of a regular department of the College. The coming of General Secretary Arthur G. Cushman, chock-a-block full of excellent ideas and policies, and the organization which he effected have been responsible for the progress attained.

The trouble in former years has been that the officers of the Y. M. C. A., being fellows who already had a large share of student responsibilities, lacked the time necessary to a proper pushing of Association interests. With the appointment of a general Secretary to direct the affairs of the Association these conditions have changed and the Young Men's Christian Association has given evidence and promise of undreamed service and usefulness. Already it is difficult to see how Bates ever got along without a properly organized and directed Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Cushman was handicapped by his late appointment, but he has overcome difficulties in a wonderful way and given the association a constantly accelerating impetus.

The 1911-12 organization was first responsible for the best Bates Handbook ever put out at the college. Mission and Bible study have been successfully carried on and with the coming of Secretary Cushman an employment bureau of much value was formed with headquarters at the Secretary's office in Roger Williams Hall. Union meetings with the Y. W. C. A. were discontinued and the change has proved to be a desirable one.

Tennyson said. "I am part of all that I have met." Likewise, all that we have experienced and known is a part of us. If we ponder upon these words, we begin to realize that college experiences and associations are more than pictures of memory; they are a part of ourselves. Also the lives of all of us girls of 1912 are inseparably linked together and into each life the influence of every other life has woven its thread.

In frolic and in social life, in study and in intellectual effort, we have been comrades. But there is still a closer bond between us. With strong, deep purpose, we have sought together to think and act on those things that pertain to sweeter, nobler Christian womanhood. Many of us in later years, when we think of college friends, will whisper, "My life has been better because I once know her." Many of these bonds have been formed through our Y. W. C. A.

At Freshman Frolic, Hallowe'en Party and Candy Carnival, we have worked and played together

With Dr. Tubbs in Bible Study, we have received together the help and the inspiration that Dr. Tubbs is always so glad to give. In mission class and in those helpful half-hours that we have spent together each week, we have grown to be dearer friends.

Together, we have rejoiced to be a little part of that strong band of college girls in our country, who are striving to live more like Christ.

And finally, in the hearts and live of some of us, there is an experience that has enriched our years of college life. On the shores of beautiful Lake George, we, with girls from many other colleges, have learned to read more deeply the real meaning of life and service.

Dear college friendships have grown more dear because of the realization of the presence of a common Friend, a wonderful Friend. May college memories, may life and service, mean more to us all because we have worked together for our Association.

"THESE to his memory—since he held them dear,

Some image of himself—I dedicate,—
I dedicate with tears."—Tennyson.

The "Spofford Club" which has grown out of a class in advanced composition, is so-called in memory of our beloved Professor Spofford, deceased.

It is devoted to the advancement of letters among the undergraduates, and to the maintenance of a high standard of literary work in the college.

The duty of the club also extends to the furnishing of material for our college publication, THE BATES STUDENT.

The members, some sixteen in number, are chosen on the basis of especial excellence in English composition during the first two years of their college course.

Regular bi-weekly meetings are held throughout the year, for the criticism of literary work submitted by the members of the club.

In addition to this, the members have, during the past year, devoted themselves to the study and criticism of contemporaneous dramatic literature; and attempts have been made toward writing a play dealing with different phases of college life.

In the pursuance of this work, the club owes much to the kindly services of Mr. Oldham, our instructor in English, who, by his able efforts and kindly criticism, has materially aided us in our work.

The club colors are emerald green, on a black ground.

The Jordan Scientific Society was organized in the spring of 1910 by eight members of the Class of 1911 for the development of its members along scientific lines and to give men who intend to go into engineering work or to teach science a broader idea of the subject than can be gained in the class room. The Society was named in honor of Lyman G. Jordan, Professor of Chemistry. The membership is limited to those men in the Senior and Junior Classes who have shown marked interest and proficiency in one or more branches of science.

Meetings have been held bi-monthly during the college year at which times papers and reports have been given and discussed by the members. There have been several lectures by outside men among whom were Prof. Tubbs, Mr. Morse and Mr. Watson of our own faculty, Prof. Hutchins of the Physics Department of Bowdoin, and Mr. Ryder, Chemist of the Turner Center Creamery, Auburn. These lectures have been very interesting and profitable to the students. The society has taken Industrial Excursions to the Lewiston Gas Works, Cotton Mills and Bleachery, and to the Pulp and Paper Mill at Lisbon Falls.

During the year the Society has adopted a permanent style of pin and has held several feeds and one banquet. In summing up this, the second year's work, it might be said that the Society has progressed along the lines which the organizers planned and in many ways has justified its existence both to the members and to the college.

UPON EACH successive class rests more and more heavily, the burden of Bates' remarkable record in debate and yet each class considers itself honor bound to achieve victories in debate which may sustain that same record. The Class of 1912 has been instrumental in adding to the list four victories and but one defeat.

If, in the Fall of 1908 the Debating coach scanned the Freshmen for new material, indeed, he must have been disappointed. Preachers there were many and songsters plenty, but to locate the James G. Blaines was a task not to be accomplished that year.

College training rapidly multiplies talents. After a year of dormitory life many a fellow had learned to administer the paddle to obstreperous Freshmen and write weighty and irrefutable arguments the same night. It is needless to say that the contestants in Mr. Carroll's class debate were always well prepared and eager to win laurels. The chief feature of these forensic struggles was the commanding use of authority. Only the best known and most authentic specialists were quoted.

Finally, six men were sentenced to eight weeks of hard labor on the Initiative and Referendum. Lowry, Conklin, and Chatto, supporting the affirmative, defeated Turner, Grindle and W. Davis; Lowry was pronounced the Champion Debater and Turner, Lowry and Chatto were selected as the men who should represent the class and college against Massachusetts Aggies.

The defeat of M. A. C. was the first victory in debate for the Class of 1912 and one of which we are justly proud.

In the fall of our Junior year, all the 1912 candidates for 'varsity congregated in Roger Williams Hall once a week to listen with awe to intricate arguments of the Seniors. Scarcely a word dared they utter, but through some kind deal of fate, two Juniors, Turner and Davis, were selected to assist Stordahl and Pierce of '11 in the Intercollegiate Work.

BATES 1912 vs. M. A. C. TEAM

Turner Lowry Chatto

The question was Canadian Reciprocity. An amazing amount of material was gathered. The Seniors with Turner's assistance, defeated Clark in Lewiston, and a month later the College of the City of New York was taught that the boys from Maine, although apparently needing instruction regarding skyscrapers and express subways, were there with a winning argument. In this debate Davis represented 1912.

At the opening of the final season for our spouters the Debating Council decided upon the policy of extending the benefits of debate to more men. C. C. N. Y. was dropped from our schedule, but Clark was retained and Colgate University which had recently gained much repute in debate, was taken on. After a stiff course in Advanced Argumentation, Turner, Lowry and Davis were chosen to meet the fast New Yorkers, while Rowe, together with Grindle, '13, and Cave, both ex-members of 1912, was to meet Clark.

The new policy of using six men did not result unsatisfactorily. Although the home team suffered defeat at the hands of Colgate, solace was added by the victory over Clark. The question used in these debates was the Aldrich Plan of Banking and Currency Reform. The market will be soon glutted with literature on the Monetary Reform,—merely products of the constructive and destructive arguments of our debaters.

At the close of the last season for the 1912 debaters it is fitting that we pay a tribute to the efficient coaching of Mr. Carroll. Much of our success has been due to his wise and kindly training.

We are proud of our debating record as a class, but it is only as we have laid our laurels at the feet of Alma Mater that we have gained the greatest satisfaction.

The Bates Student

HERE'S to the BATES STUDENT! A grand old toast, but—which student? The thoughts of the member of 1912 will turn, as he reads these lines, to some particular student who must ever be to him the Bates student par excellence, whose companionship sweetened many long walks and wearisome problems. But to those who have come into contact with her, who have written prose——or, worse yet, poetry for her pages, who have composed her destiny-making editorials or pored over her proof, who have borne her knocks and covered her shortcomings—to those there can be but one Bates Student, the little magazine, which, during the year when it was in our care, came out in the quiet Gray and Garnet of 1912.

The STUDENT, whatever its faults and its failures, of which many are laid at its door by our staid alumni, is dear to us. It has recorded our triumphs and our achievements, it has given to some of us for the first time the delicious thrill of seeing again our names boldly in print; it has even helped us to get out of our system the spring poem which was bringing us to a premature state of rhythmical insanity; it has printed the essay which—while we were writing it—seemed destined to establish a reputation akin to that of Bacon and of Emerson. And so, here's to the BATES STUDENT! May her courage never falter and may her waste basket never grow less!

THE STUDENT COUNCIL of Bates is one of the recent organizations of the institution. It is composed wholly of men students elected by the Student Assembly every year; four from the Senior, three from the Junior, two from the Sophomore and one from the Freshman class. It was founded in 1910 and has been steadily growing in strength and power since, until now it stands on a firm footing and is recognized as an important factor in Student Government. Its object is to foster friendly relations among the classes and to act in conjunction with the faculty in preserving harmony and concord among the students, and at the same time to promote beneficial college interests and activities.

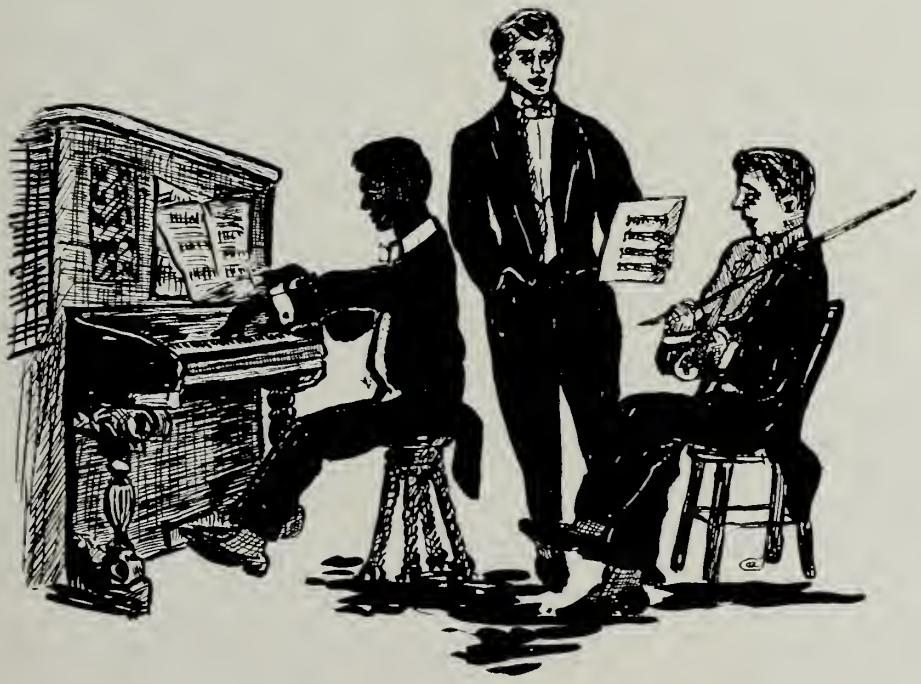
MUSIC



Bates College Musical Association

IF there is any one phase of college life in which 1912 excels, it is Music. From the melodious "rags" of the "Anvil Chorus" to fiery appeals of Mezzacappo's Mignardises as rendered by Plainville Pete, or the hushing charm of the "Slumber Song" by our "Boy Apollo," the class has produced musical strains of supreme excellence.

The chief function of the Musical Association, which was organized principally because of the incentive given to music by 1912, is to stimulate, control and coördinate the musical activities of the college men. The awarding of the Association letters to members who have earned them in the Band, Orchestra, Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs, has in itself raised the musical activities to a higher level and given the musicians public recognition of faithfulness and constancy in work.

A splendid adjunct to the work of the Association is the annual banquet, instituted during this season.

MUSICAL CLUB

GRAND CONCERT

Bates Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs

SUCH is the announcement that has met the gaze of the inhabitants of towns and cities from Farmington, Maine, to Stafford, Connecticut, during the past two years. The impetus given to the musical interests by the Class of '12, resulted in a highly extended itinerary for our Musical Clubs. They have played before large audiences in every New England state with a total of sixty concerts in two years, and everywhere the most favorable comment has been received not only from our alumni but from the impartial public and press.

The long vacation trips were instituted last year as a new feature and they have proved to be not only pleasurable to the men, but also a means of spreading the good name of Bates throughout New England. The annual joint concert with Bowdoin, a unique affair, has accomplished much in promoting friendly intercollegiate relations.

The Glee Club has been under the direction of Kierstead and Bassett, while it is largely through Brunner's ability that the Mandolin and Banjo Clubs have attained such a high degree of excellence. The Glee Club of twenty voices rendered the well-chosen selections with a volume and vim seldom equaled. The Mandolin Club of sixteen and the Banjo Club of twelve were well balanced and exceedingly pleasing to the musical ear. That the audiences appreciated the lighter vein was evidenced by the numerous encores received by the Quartet. The individual work gave a great variety to the program. Brunner's mandolin solos were seldom equalled on the stage in this part of the country, while H. Davis' violin solos always held the audience through several encores. Bassett's vocal solos and Barrow's work at the piano deserve much praise. The readers, W. Davis and Partridge, were always well received.

Smith has been "the man behind" for two years and it is because of his energy and managerial ability that the long trips have been successfully financed.

That each concert was a place of reunion for the Alumni of the vicinity was shown by the gratifying number of loyal graduates standing while the closing number, "Alma Mater, Bates," was rendered by the Combined Clubs.

Bates College Band

IN THE SPRING of 1912, a co-ed was heard to remark, "Well what's the fun of going to a ball game if the Band isn't going to play." Such is the fame of "Fullers' Band!" The students have become so accustomed to listening to a harmonious and well-balanced band that few realize the work and training that has been necessary to produce the excellent organization which graces alike our mass meetings, athletic contests and celebrations. Not only has each member of this band, worked diligently and constantly but the near-student and would-be sleeper has sacrificed duty and pleasure alike in the interests of lip-exercises of our hornsters.

Oftentimes
"Soprano, basso, even contra-alto
Wish'd him five fathom under the Rialto."

We are, however, truly proud of our Band and boast that it is the best College Band in Maine and that it is seldom excelled in any New England Institution.

The Bates College Orchestra

EACH Musical Organization is valuable in giving training to those who participate, as well as pleasure to those who listen. Orchestral music has been a most welcome adjunct to many a program of dry debates and orations and has graced the social activities in Fiske Reception Room, whether in small groups of five or six or massed in the "big team" of fourteen pieces. The Leader, the Manager and each man deserves a great deal of credit for the work performed and high class music rendered.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

OUR college generation has witnessed not only a great increase in the musical activities of the men, but also a corresponding increase on the part of the young women. In the fall of 1909 the Girls' Glee Club was organized and for two years it prospered under the wise and patient guidance of Dr. Brandelle. The loss of their enthusiastic and efficient director was deeply regretted by all those who had worked under his instruction. This year the young ladies have worked consistently in spite of the fact that they have been greatly hampered by lack of an expert coach. Although the concert which had been given for two consecutive years had to be omitted, the Club has sung during the winter at several Sunday Evening Vesper Services and other college functions.

IN THE Spring of 1909, the two lady mandolinists of the College, Misses Chandler, '11, and Hodgdon, '12, somewhat envious of the success of their fellow-classmen across the campus, decided to have a Mandolin Club. The club organized at that time has gradually increased from two to twenty members. During the past year it has rendered selections at several concerts, entertainments and church functions.

ALTHOUGH Bates is a distinctly Maine college, she is yearly drawing more and more upon other states for her students. Of the students listed in the last catalog of the College no less than thirty-one per cent. come from nine outside states. The Massachusetts delegation is easily the largest among these, making up nearly fifteen per cent. of the entire student body.

It is not strange, therefore, that the men from the old Bay State have banded together to form a Massachusetts Club. Although an annual banquet is held, the activities of the Club are for the most part inconspicuous and its work is quietly performed, so that the formation of anything approaching a clique as a result of the organization is impossible. Enthusiastic in regard to Bates, the members of the Massachusetts Club are anxious to share their "find" and to make known to other students of their state the desirability of the opportunities which their Alma Mater offers. Thus the organization is an important factor in the bringing to Bates of valuable Massachusetts contributions of brain and brawn.

During the past year the officers of the club have been as follows: President, Leonard S. Smith, '12, of Shelburne Falls, Mass.; Vice-President, Carlton A. Dennis,, '13, of Worcester, Mass.; Recording Secretary, Aubrey W. Tabor, '14, of Waltham, Mass.; Corresponding Secretary, William T. O'Donnell, '15, of East Boston; Treasurer, Ernest H. THE AROOSTOOK CLUB of Bates College was organized in November 1910. The purpose of the organization is twofold; first to promote the interests of the College in Aroostook County, and second to further the spirit of brotherhood and good fellowship, of the Aroostook men in College. A banquet has been held on Thanksgiving Day for the past two years, and promises to become an annual event. This year the club will present a pennant to the winning team in the Aroostook County High School League. The present membership of the club is eighteen.

The Oracles of Bates College

THE past always strongly affects the present. Men are slow to depart from the steps of their fathers, and so give much of their effort to the preserving of the old order. Happy, indeed, is a people with traditions! How barren is the life of any body of men that has no glorious past! Colleges and college men are particularly prone to cherish the memories and the usages of by-gone days. They are zealous of their traditions and religiously guard them and carefully transmit them. The Class of 1912 wishes to add to its long list of great and glorious achievements and still further enshrine itself in the memory of posterity. It here and now makes claim to the praise of the future by giving to the world a body of men, six in number, whose picture appears on the opposite page. Venerable, high-browed, dignified and learned are they all. One year ago several of the more serious-minded men of 1912 realized that Bates needed an organization to which it could turn in time of need and receive help. As men of the past in time of distress have gone to Oracles and the fathers so should Bates men turn to the Bald-Headed Men's Club, its Oracles. So the idea took root. The organization has been doing potent work. The numbers are not many, the ritual is simple, the meetings are few. Very little has been published concerning the workings of this body, but already there has gone forth from it a power that is being felt in every department of our Alma Mater's life. Note the personnel as it appears before you. Are not these men impressed with the seriousness of life? There is the President, Baldy Smith—manager of the universe, and all the college activities; Bibe Bonney, the Vice-President whose head serves as a good reflector, Mutt Rowe, Keeper of the Records in a fair, legible hand. Last but not by any means least, come the other members, Prune Davis, High-Brow Cole, Shiny Doe, the Keepers of the Elixir, meaning life to hair and vigor to mind and body. This Elixir can be dispensed only by them, and then solely to the fit. Many underclassmen have already sought the glorious boon, but in vain because of great unworthiness. Glorious are the memories that the Bald-Headed Men's Club leaves behind. Sweet aroma of Rexall, Herpecide and Zepps float in its wake on the balmy breezes. Happy, indeed, is Bates to have the traditions of the fathers visited on the children. Let future generations cherish them well and transmit them unsullied to all who shall come to drink at Lewiston's fount of knowledge. Among them none will shine with such undimmed lustre as the work and fame of the Venerable Six, the Bald-Headed Men's Club.

Football

Capt. Cole

IT IS A pleasure to look back four years and review the development of football at Bates from the fall of 1908 to 1912. Like the college itself we have made rapid strides in this branch of athletics and our record during the last four years is one in which every Bates man may take pride. We have not always been victorious and at times the taste from the cup of defeat has been bitter. Defeats, however, are nothing less than the stepping stones to success and so they have been in football.

In the fall of our Freshman year Bates had a well-balanced team but we were defeated in the two first state games. Colby won at Waterville 6 to 0 and Maine defeated us by the same score at Lewiston. Such a start in a state championship series could prove anything but encouraging. The ever ready Bates spirit was not lacking, however, for the squad continued to work with the determination and consistency which always results in success. In this case our previous defeats proved incentives and we were victorious in the Bowdoin game 5 to 0. The machine like playing of the Bates team was a revelation and showed what pluck and perseverance can do when the hearts of men are in their work.

Mgr. Lovell

The next season saw Bates with a light team, but shift plays, good coaching and accurate execution of the forward pass did much in making up for the loss of weight. That fall we lost to Maine at Orono 11 to 5, Colby at Lewiston 11 to 6 and Bowdoin at Lewiston 11 to 0.

The record for the next fall was an enviable one and the team gladdened the hearts of Bates people. Only two state games were played and Bates won one and tied the other. The team won from Maine 10 to 0 in a game featured by the work of the Bates men in following the ball, and taking advantage of the opportunities offered. The Bowdoin game resulted in a tie 6 to 6 after a hard fought game in which both teams displayed wonderful determination and persistency. The season was one of the best of recent years and too much credit can not be given to Coach Purinton, Captain Lovely and the players.

1912 FOOTBALL MEN (Season of 1911)

This fall's work was featured by one of the greatest displays of pluck and perseverance that a Bates team has ever shown. Our first game resulted in a tie 6 to 6 with New Hampshire State College at Durham. Against Harvard the team played in and out football, but the result was not wholly unsatisfactory. The team seemed strong before the first state game, but we lost to Colby 14 to 0. The defeat was so overwhelming that Bates did not seem to have a very big chance in the state series. The same spirit and consistency, co-ordination and love for the welfare of our Alma Mater, which predominates Bates athletics, turned the tide, however, and we won from Maine at Orono 5 to 0. Bates was outweighed but the playing of the team was like a well-oiled machine. Our last game with Bowdoin resulted in an 11 to 0 victory for our sister college at Brunswick. For four years we have watched Bates football in its struggle for supremacy and during that time our minds and hearts have followed the fortunes of the class of 1912. We feel that we have lived up to our predecessors in furnishing men, who have had the college and the success of football at heart. Captain Cole, an aggressive leader, Conklin, Remmert, Jecusco, Bolster, Hooper, Bickford, Bassett, Blanchard, Ford, Thurlow, Brackett, Beek, Buck and Lamorey have all sacrificed pleasure and enjoyment in working for the welfare of the team.

To Captain-elect Dennis the class of 1912 gives its good wishes. May football in the years to come develop as it has in the last four years, and —

"May each man go, lose or conquer as ye can,
Be each, pray God, the gentleman."

OUR FOUR YEARS in college have seen some excellent ball teams. During that time she has not secured the pennant of championship in the state but she has always come so near to it as to send shivers down the spinal vertebrae of her opponents.

In our Freshman year Colby was beaten in two hard games, the score in each being 2-1. Maine defeated us 4-2 and 3-2, the latter game going 17 innings without a single relaxation of the excitement. Bowdoin lost 8-0 and won 8-6.

The season of 1910 was a favorable one, as Bates defeated Bowdoin three times—a stunt to be proud of. The scores were 5-2, 5-4, and 7-6. Maine won both games from us 8-4 and 5-0. Colby was beaten 8-7 in the only game with her.

In 1911 the situation was slightly different in that Bowdoin was found to have a team which could win six games straight from the other Maine Colleges. Bates split even with Colby and Maine.

Mgr. Brunner

1912 has been a remarkable season. The Bates team under Capt. Griffin started the thing off with a rush when they went on a trip almost without practice and defeated Harvard, 3-2, lost to Brown, 2-3, and won from R. I. State, 2-1. Hopes were high for the championship, but the first game with U. of M. at Orono was lost, altho protested by Bates. But Maine was defeated on Garcelon Field, 2-0; Tufts, 1-0; Colby, 2-1; and there the triumphal progress stopped for Bates went down before Bowdoin, up to that time the tail-enders, by a score of 1-2. The next game was a record breaker for it went 18 innings, Bowdoin finally winning, 4-5. The final game was lost to Colby, 2-7.

We have added enthusiasm as well as atheletes to baseball at Bates, and has a team of its own which, altho by no means a championship aggregation played two hard fought, closely contested games for the class.

Track

Captain Blanchard

AT ONE TIME the real varsity sports at Bates were football and baseball with track and tennis as side issues. Football and baseball will always be considered main branches of Bates athletics, but today they have divided the prestige with track.

Four years have worked wonders in this department and raised Bates from last place among the Maine colleges to the top. A short resume of the standing of Bates at the Maine Intercollegiate meet will show conclusively the development of track athletics. In 1909 at Orono we secured only 11 points and finished last. The next year we moved to second place, scoring 37 points, only 12 behind Bowdoin's team which won the meet. For a period of twelve years Bates had not won second place, and the success of Captain Williams and his men proved a remarkable incentive to track. In 1911 we again took second place, furnishing with Maine one of the best struggles for first place seen in recent years. Maine won the meet but not until the last event was finished did Bates acknowledge defeat. The result of the meet was Maine 41, Bates 39, Colby 30, and Bowdoin 16.

Manager Buck

Another feature which perhaps shows our development even more than the result of the Maine meet was the strong showing we made at the New England Intercollegiate meet in Springfield. Last year was our first appearance at that meet and we did much better than a number of New England colleges which have been members of the New England Association for years. Besides winning sixth place at this meet with 11 points to our credit Bates jumped into prominence by establishing a new record in the half mile. Holden '13 won the event in the remarkably fast time of 1 m. 56 2-5 sec. There are very few colleges which can boast of making such an impression in its first appearance among the strong college track teams of New England.

This year Bates has won new and splendid laurels in track work. She was fortunate in securing Coach Lathrop, who has coached Harvard track teams for years, to carry on the work which Coach Connor so well began. Track competition this year has included more men than were ever reached before. Cross country runs were introduced and one intercollegiate cross-country was held in which Bates was defeated by the veteran Bowdoin team.

But the culmination of the year's work came when Bates sent down all her rivals in defeat and won the track championship of the State at the big meet in Brunswick. The score was: Bates 43, Maine 39, Colby 26, Bowdoin 18. Blanchard broke the State record in the high hurdles, doing the distance in 16 sec. Shepard did the same trick in the shot put (distance 42 ft. 2¾ in.) and Gove in the discus throw (distance 125 ft. 6⅛ in.). At the New England meet Bates improved upon her splendid performance of 1911, taking fourth place. The order was: Dartmouth, M. I. T., Bates, Wesleyan, Colby, Vermont, Maine, Bowdoin, Holy Cross, Williams, Worcester Polytechnic, Trinity, Amherst.

Capt. Blanchard made a fitting close to his college athletic record by winning first place in the hurdles at the Olympic trials in Cambridge, and was consequently chosen as a member of the American team to compete with the athletes of the world at the Olympic games in Sweden this summer. Holden, formerly of 1913, was chosen also as a supplementary man in the runs.

Since the abolishment of a 'varsity basketball team this branch of athletics has been confined mostly to the Freshman and Sophomore years. Other class games are played, but the real contests come when the Freshman and Sophomore teams meet.

In our Freshman year we had a squad of fast basketball men but, as it the custom with first year teams, we lacked the co-ordination and team work which is an essential for all athletic teams and particularly so in basketball. The team was composed of Brunner, Remmert, Ford, Lamory, Pike and Lovell. The game was an exciting one but the team work of the upper classmen proved too much for us, and we were defeated by the score of 33 to 27.

Washington's birthday of the next year brought us no better result than the previous one. The outcome was another defeat, but we were opposed to one of the best basketball teams which ever represented a class at Bates. The Freshman team was composed of five individual basketball stars and they proved too difficult a proposition for our men. The final score was 40 to 28.

We have been represented by some fast basketball players, even if our two most important games were not victories for us. Ford, Brunner, Pike, Bickford, Blanchard, Smith, Lamory, Remmert, Conklin, and Lovell all worked hard for the class and showed that in basketball they did not know the meaning of defeat until the timer's whistle announced the end of the game.

Girls' Basketball

TO BE sure, we have never won the championship, but that is no sign that we haven't played basketball. The girls of our class have not been particularly athletic, confining their energies to more scholarly pursuits; by the way, two members of our team have won fame for themselves and us by carrying off honors in Science. In spite of all discouragements and trials the class has given us royal support. The gym has never rung with more hearty cheers than those which urged 1912 to do or die. Each year our hearts have been gladdened by our lone victory. During our college course we have been victorious in exactly four games. Our Freshman year we conquered the Seniors and since then our efforts have sufficed to keep the incoming class in its place.

Each year we have started the season in high hopes, and each year fickle fortune has snatched the longed-for pennant from our grasp. Each year we have celebrated our games by spreads, provided by admiring (and sympathetic!) friends.

Though defeated we have triumphed! No one has been more sincere in congratulating the winners than we.

"It's easy enough to be merry and glad
When life moves along like a song,
But the girl that's worth while
Is the girl who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong."

Tennis

Capt. Clason

THE RECORD of Bates in Tennis this year is one she may well be proud of and will go far toward making this sport more popular than ever among the students. During the fall an intra-college tournament was held in which Tomblen won the championship in singles. The final match in the doubles was not played off, the first place remaining undecided between Deering and Woodman, and Alley and Nickerson.

During the year when the weather permitted, the men practiced consistently and a team of four men, Woodman, '13 (Capt.), Tomblen, '13, Alley, '13, and Nickerson, '13, was sent to represent Bates at the Maine Intercollegiate Tournament at Orono, this spring.

Mgr. Bly

The matches were played off under difficult conditions, for rain caused a postponement of the trials, with the result that the entire series had to be played in a day and a half. Tomblen and Captain Woodman won the championship in doubles, defeating Morse and Gillingham of Colby, 6–2, 5–7, 6–0, 6–3. Tomblen then immediately was forced to play off his match with Bird of Maine for the singles championship, and defeated him after five hard sets, 6–4, 5–7, 3–6, 6–0, 6–4. Tomblen made the remarkable record of thirteen sets played in one day.

The tennis prospects for next year are very bright, as no "B" men are lost by graduation.

1912 Co-Eds In Tennis

"FORTY-LOVE!"

Do you say with the pessimistic onlooker, "This is the result of co-education?"

It is, rather, the score of a 1912 girl against an upper-class opponent. To be sure, it is but one of the many. However, whether we win or lose, 1912 tennis enthusiasts are always on hand with the proper spirit. Our Freshman and Sophomore years passed with few recorded successes in tennis, yet the practice gained by the large number who entered the sport was serviceable, for when inter-class games were introduced in 1911, the championship was easily won by Verna Sawtelle and "Billie" Noyes. Miss Noyes was beaten in the singles, only by Miss McKee, the champion-winner.

1912 promises to shine this season with the brilliancy of a first magnitude star both as class-champions and as individual champion in the singles in the 1912 tournament.

Hockey

SOME attention has been given to Hockey by the young ladies of Bates previous to our time. It was first instituted among the sports in 1906. However, we did not receive our introduction to this most exciting of outdoor games until our Sophomore year under Miss Carter. We were asked to try twice and then we should know whether or not we liked it. Those who did try twice found it a most strenouous and at the same time exhilarating game. Hard knocks and occasional periods of breathless existence were considered no drawback. Rosy cheeks and bright eyes were more in evidence than fine points or star playing, but that mattered little to us. Here's hoping that Hockey at Bates lives on and thrives.

HARES AND HOUNDS

THE Hare and Hound Chase is a unique good time enjoyed by the girls of Bates. The idea of a holiday, the excitement of following the trails, the supper on the river bank, the songs around the fires and above all the feeling of comradeship that draws us together as Bates girls, all lend their charm to this annual September picnic.

The chase this year was an exciting one and we senior girls went for a grand good time. While we were calmly making sandwiches and cutting cake, some of our number slipped away mysteriously in a whirl of white skirts, white sweaters and long white "drooping things." Soon after, armed with dippers and spoons, we all started for the Fair grounds where our trails began.

Red, blue, orange or white, it was a scramble and hunt for the trails, over ditches, over fences, up hill and down. Here and there a gay poster hung and a merry laugh greeted the discomfiture of some fair co-ed to whom it was dedicated.

Faculty ladies were girls again. If I remember rightly, not even a fence could daunt their courage. But no more, we will not tell you of the songs, the cheers and the stunts they enjoyed in the performance.

Now you have heard of such things as these many times before, but this was a very unusual chase. Perhaps you will not believe me, but it is all true. In imagination, look with me far in the rear. Just appearing on top of the hill are those of our number, by reputation the most sedate and serious, bearing each a cider jug.

A thunder shower could not spoil our pleasure in the least.

The third important event was carried off by a cow, who tried to carry off our Alice. That really was a serious incident, happily not an accident. But who will blame the poor cow for being frightened at such a remarkable invasion?

At last, our shy white bunnies were seen among the trees and there was a rush for them. When they were captured, the laughing faces of our lost ones appeared under the bunny hoods.

Neither cider, nor cows, nor showers could daunt the camera man. It was a merry group that his camera caught.

With long sticks on which bacon and corn sizzled, we cooked our supper over the red coals. Surely no society banquet ever had a more delicious flavor than bacon, beans, sandwiches and cake had for us hungry college girls.

Dear college memories! No later holidays and picnics will ever have the charm that these joys which we of 1912 have shared together and many times in lingering, half-sad, half-joyous tones will memory picture them for us. No friends will probably ever be dearer than those with whom we sang around the dying fires out there together, apart from all the world, on the river bank. May the songs echo and re-echo in our hearts through the years and hold us true to each other.

"Happy days to all those that we love.
Happy days to all those that love us."

GYM SQUAD LEADERS

Remmert Hooper Tucker
Buck Fuller Coach Purington Lovell Blanchard

THERE is no branch of athletics at Bates which produces more good and reaches a larger number of students than the winter's work in the gymnasium. Under the instruction of Physical Director Purinton the men of the college are annually receiving a course which can be classed as the most beneficial in the institution.

In gymnastics and apparatus work our class has furnished a large number of clever men. We have achieved the distinction of winning second place in the class drills at the annual indoor meet in our Freshman year and of winning first place in the same event two years later. In addition to this the class has furnished for the last two years almost all the leaders and assistants in the gymnasium work.

The class as a whole has shown a remarkable development along physical lines during the four years. Among the members of the class who have made good along this line of work are Remmert, Fuller, Hooper, Tucker, Blanchard, Buck and Lovell. All these men have been able assistants besides deriving considerable benefit from the work. Remmert, Hooper, and Lovell made a specialty of parallel bar work and assisting in the free arm work. Tucker worked conscientiously on the high bar and during the last winter led the Freshman class groups on that piece of apparatus. Fuller and Buck assisted on the Swedish horse, mats and low bar. Blanchard devoted his time to the parellel bar and the free arm work.

It is a satisfaction to realize that the Class of 1912 has not fallen below the standard of our predecessors, but it is even more satisfying to look back on the number of assistants we have developed and the high standards we attained in the class drills.

RED LETTER DAYS

DECS!-

DURING the latter part of our first term we began to observe strange phenomena in the chapel on certain afternoons. Some of the bravest, daring to peep inside the doors which always creaked abominably on such occasions, beheld a small group of victims at the extreme right, attended by Prof. Rob as High Lord Elocutioneer, and on the platform a declaiming specimen of humanity, gesticulating forcefully with his hand and wrist and involuntarily with his knees. This was Sophomore Declamations.

Our turn came in the winter term, when, after Prof. Rob had drilled us upon 1, 2, 3, 4, 5,—ha! for some time, and had taught us when to puncture the photosphere and when to pound the pulpit, we met in dread-stricken divisions to spout our little piece. And the fortunate ones were chosen to compete for the grand prize. The eventful day went off very well, and so did the electric gong under the platform, the wires of which led to the camp of the Sophomores. After that brief excitement was over Harry Rowe and Jessie Alley were awarded the prizes.

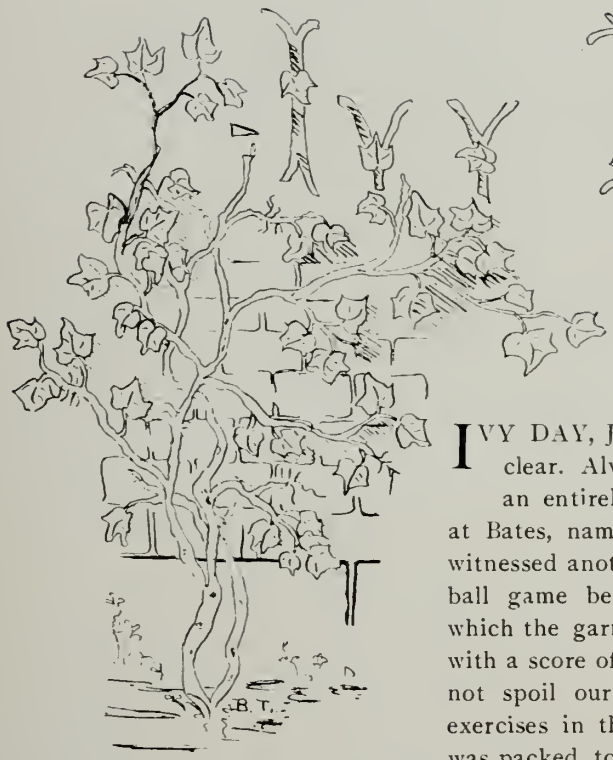
Sophomore year we early had to face the announcement, "Elocution books reserved for the Sophomores." This time it was not quite so bad, however, for we had become a little more familiar with the right way to hold our mouths and to put down our feet. Miss Alley repeated her rake-off of the year before, but Wayne Eddie scooped in the men's prize in spite of the Parson.

After this latter ordeal we were free from required declamations, but several of the class continued the work in Prof. Rob's special course where we learned more about breathing properly from our little diaphrams, and—many of us—became able speakers as some of 1912's records can testify.



IVY DAY

IVY DAY, June, 1911, dawned bright and clear. Always original, 1912 introduced an entirely new element into Ivy Day at Bates, namely, sunshine. The forenoon witnessed another new feature in the baseball game between Bates and Colby in which the garnet went down before the blue with a score of 1 to 0. But this defeat did not spoil our enthusiasm for the Ivy Day exercises in the afternoon, and the chapel was packed to hear the class of 1912 eulogized and the faculty roasted. Wayne Eddie orated most eloquently on "The College Man a Beneficiary," and then President Blanchard introduced Mutt Rowe as toastmaster.

Harry fairly outdid himself and inspired more than one laugh by his witty introductions. The following speakers responded: Charles Nason Stanhope, "Damsels"; Elizabeth Mason Campbell, "As It Might Be"; Harry Havelock Lowry, "The Question of the Hour"; A. Maud Astle, "Little Lords of Creation"; George F. Conklin, "The Dark Ages"; Margaret Tubbs, "The Curtain Lifted."

Following the speaking the Class Ode, written by Clarence I. Chatto, was sung. Then the class was conducted by Marshal Lane to the campus, where the ivy was planted while the class sang the Ivy Ode, by Florence Rideout.

The Call of Learning

(Ivy Poem)

ABIGAIL MARGARET KINCAID, '12

The winds were charged with a call to arms for the middle age,
The zephyr sighs of maidens, the blasts of a prince's rage.
For the breath of the nostrils was battle and all things fell by the sword:
The peasant left his grazing flocks to become a warrior's page.

Voices of infinite science sweep through the world today,
Beat through the driving snow, burden the fragrance of May.
We writhe in the lust of knowledge, a lust that cannot be filled,
That shakes the humblest toiler, brown with the sweat and clay.

We catch at fragments of learning, scarcely a finger's touch,
Might we grip them firm together with an unreleasing clutch.
How may we rest in languor, how may we pause for ease,
Our minds are tense for struggle, and rest is not for such.

We pledge not now fantastic vow
As pledged the knights of yore,
Who, bending low in solemn row,
With hand on sword hilt swore.
Before no altar women falter,
Taught by grim tradition
To cast aside youth's happy pride
For black-stoled, mute submission.

The faith that loaths word-reeking oaths,
That looks from steady eyes,
We keep apart in the silent heart
And laugh at sacrifice.
Not by brain alone shall the truth be known,
Let the strengh of our bodies, too,
Help wrench us out from the world about
All that is real and true.

We who, adoring the eagle's soaring,
Would rise beyond his flight,
Would feel the crushing, cold, onrushing
Approach of the lone, dark night.
We, whom the press of the joy and distress
Of the throbbing crowd draws in,
Would thrill and glow at their reckless show
Of laughter, grief and sin.

Why heed the sighs of the old and wise
Who dread lest the hearts we strain,
'Gainst the heaving breast of the great world pressed
Be ground to naught in pain.
Lest we sell our life for useless strife
That leaves no time for quailing:
But when it is ended, unwept, unfriended,
The truth shall mock us, failing.

Where were the joy of the contest, if the risks were smoothed away!
The shame of the losers is glory to those that gain the day.
If we fail, let us sink, forgotten. The truth will mock at none:
She will not comprehend the toil in her service done.
But should we hush our desires, our souls would choke with the madness
Of the longing, the hope to win—so we leap to the fight with gladness.

CLASS RIDES

ALL RIGHT! We're off! Rah, Rah, Rah, 1912—and with Uncle Johnny we had started on our Freshman Class Ride. The special car left the campus early, on the second Saturday of the Fall term, carrying a crowd who knew little about a class ride but a whole lot about a good time.

Of course, we went to Lake Auburn and of course we visited the Fish Hatcheries and climbed Mt. Gile and of course we had dinner by a farmhouse. All who have been Freshmen here have done the same and yet not the same for we were the class of 1912 and so it was different. Everyone got acquainted with someone else and drank to the new friendship in cider right from the mill.

We may have been tired after our afternoon on the Lake and the ride home, but we didn't know it—we were only glad that our first class ride had been such a success.

"Rockety I, Ki Yi, Ki Yi." We christened our class yell on our second Freshman Ride to "No Name Pond" and the weather helped in the christening. Between showers, however, the two boats that the pond boasted did noble work, some being so anxious for a row that Uncle Johnny had to intercede to avert a tragedy.

In spite of the rain, however, the pleasant task of getting acquainted with each other went on and many tours of travel and exploration were made in the surrounding country.

For our Sophomore Ride we went to Lake Auburn again but as Professor Stanton had other infants in his care by this time, we were accompanied by "Dutchie" and Mrs. Leonard. A good part of the day was given over to athletics as we thought our talent as a class needed to be developed along this line.

Before dinner, baseball was the event. Game called at eleven sharp!

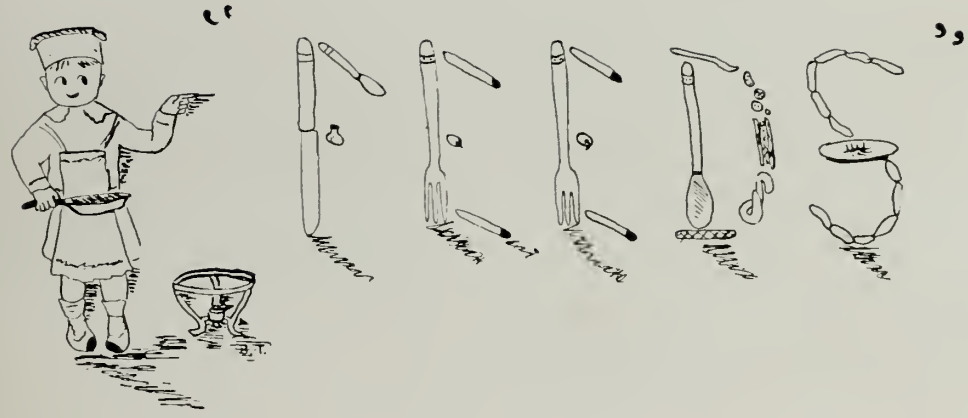
Everyone brought good appetites to the out-door dinner tables, but some were so hungry that they would not deprive others of their portion, so unselfishly went to the Lake Grove House for dinner.

After dinner, all went out on the lake—many to drift around idly all the afternoon—a few of the more ambitious however disembarked on the opposite shore and there organized and participated in a Track Meet. Many events were run off and at least one record broken. The day was perfect—happiness reigned.

Junior Class Ride! And Lake Maranacook! Sophomore Class Ride fades into insignificance before the mention of our Junior Ride. The electrics took the class from Lewiston to the lake and a motor launch took us across to the hotel. Dinner was served there—then Maranacook was given an opportunity to justify its old-time reputation as the ideal spot for class rides and it was not disappointing.

With regret we left the lake, late in the afternoon for the electrics, although to many the good time was evidently not over. The day was cooler and the ride home, beautiful.

Now and then a song was begun or a cheer given. We joined in or not just as we liked. To our long list of good times, one of the best had been added.



THE class of 1912 has been a class of Epicureans. We have been particular about our daily bread and we have always demanded plenty of butter to go with it. Naturally when we came to provide feeds for ourselves, they were of a character long to be remembered. We learned early the flavor of "Shrimp wiggle" and Welsh rarebit," and at the same time came to have a better conception of the meaning of before and after than we had ever had before. But we must not pause to enumerate feeds at Rand and feeds at Parker, the glad occasions of society when the announcement "Refreshments" had drawn a crowd, the picnic dinners on class rides and otherwise, house parties at the lake, and, fewest but not least, our formal banquets. Society banquet, do you remember it? Of course you do. Jordan Scientific, Musical Association, State and County Clubs—those were all good feeds! The one we shall longest remember, however, is our Senior banquet at Lake Auburn in the fall of 1911, when the fellows of the class met around the festive board which moaned plaintively under the weight of a shore dinner. After supper—hot air and smoke—speeches and pipes. And we sung, "Here's to the good old class, boys!" all the way home. Last of all we ought to mention the gathering of Senior fellows in Room 8 to pay honor to Captain Blanchard on the day before he set out for Sweden, when the pipe of peace was smoked, prematurely, about a big punch bowl. Long may the memory of our feeds abide with us.

College Teas

ABOUT the time 1912 made her appearance upon the campus, a violent upheaval convulsed the social life of the college. Hallowe'en parties, together with several students, were censured for levity, and a general ban of ex-communication was placed upon all such gatherings in the future. Then our worthy and all-puissant faculty, looking about for a substitute, hit upon "college teas." On our first experience we tremblingly entered the portals of Rand Hall with a brand new visiting card (50c a hundred at the College Press) in one hand and a white necktie in the other, after due instructions by Prof. Rob in regard to wearing tan shoes and to putting our fingers in the sugar bowl.

But, really, our first "pink tea" wasn't so bad "as we were in hopes," and after a while we got actually to enjoy the process. We shall always remember with pleasure the pleasant afternoons spent, class by class, in the homes of various members of the faculty, and the kindness with which Mr. and Mrs. Faculty acted as host and hostess. And there isn't the slightest doubt whatever that we needed the polish that these dainty little affairs inspired for—years ago—we used to be pretty green.

Pastoral Scene

Et Cetera

That De-Moni-Acal English Class

A DELIRIUM IN THREE RAVES.

TIME, 60 MINUTES A.D. PLACE, PANDEMONIUM

RAVE NUMBER ONE

THE curtain rises, disclosing to view a large, elegantly furnished room, with richly decorated and hieroglyphically engraved seats. For mural decorations, in the foreground we have Shakespeare on a bust; in the background, John Milton ditto; likewise Sir Walter Scott be-domed with the lid of the Emerald Class, and semi-swathed in a decollette shirt. In the center is the throne of the Arch Investigator, whom we find seated thereon, accompanied by his usual frown. Over his head is suspended the magic symbol "N H_4."

The trumpet sounds, and the conclave commences. The heavy doors swing back and there enter Beelzebub's Musical Cherubs, viz.: Merrimac Kierstead, Belgrade Yeaton, Ole Bull Davis, and Basso Profundo Stanhope. These are closely followed by a promiscuous crowd, some of whom are: "Hampton" Rhoades; Lilliput Nabisco (whose loftiness is betopped by a toadstool lid); Bituminous Cole, "Whispering" Smith; The Little Minister; Hairbreadth Harry Rowe; Opie Dilldock Buck and Encyclopedia Brittanica Rand. In hot pursuit tears in Kincaid's Battery, "Burne" Jones, that Little Lass o' Lowry's and "Figure Eight" Downing. Lastly strides in E. Bellrope Merrill and the door is shut.

Dead silence rains. Presently Shakespeare twinkles his nether beard and, gazing over the assembly, finally lets his optic rest upon (N H_4)'s furless cupola. With great feeling he then ejaculates,

"O He—, what have we here?"

The door again opens and "Pallas" Dunlap sails in. Instantaneously Sir Walt sings out,—

"Hail to the Pope who so lordly advances,
Honored and blest be our own Clementine
Let ——"

"Shut up, yer fool," yells Milton; "that hain't Clement."

"Wall, who said it were?" bawls back Sir Walt. "It all amounts to the same thing, don't it?"

N H_4 lowers his left eyelid for silence. Round he casts his baleful eye. (Cheers from Milton). The raving now commences.

N H_4—Pandemonium will now lapse into tranquility. We will consider a few books more or less. Mr. Rand, will you climb up that column, there?

(Puzzled looks from Joke)—How shall I climb it?

N H_4—Use the Ladder of Swords.

R—Yes, but there is nothing to lean it against.

At this moment N H_4 turns about and yells: "Shades of Arthur Sherburne Hardy, close that window, the Wind of Destiny chills my very marrow.

The window is closed and business proceeds.

N H_4—Give me an example of Romantic Fiction—er—er, Miss Anybody.

Voice from the Gallery—Maine Central Timetable (Applause from the Pit).

N H_4—Mr. Rowe, what is the real title of Their Wedding Journey?

Mr. R—Travels with a Donkey (Applause from cherubs).

N H_4—Who writ it? Miss Audley, you there?

Miss A—Yes. William Robdean Stevellson.

N H_4—What did he do after that, Mr. Merrill?

Mr. M—He Fell in Love with His Wife

N H_4—Oh, no, that was a Foregone Conclusion.

Alice Brown now interrupts the proceedings to inquire how Mrs. Elephant made Florence?

Explanations by Cecil Rhoades.

N H_4—Mr. Chatto, give three works of the great Ripyard Kudling.

Mr. Chatto (arising from dreams of Her)—The Re-amplification of Madame Slinginsky, the Catt That Was (a tail of the Biological Lab.) and The Clam Who Would Not Sing. (Thunderous applause from Saints' Gallery.)

N H_4—Mr. Welch, give the underlying principle of Thomas Hardy's Philosophy.

Mr. W. (in multitudinous voice)—There is no Providence (Groanings from Hairy Lowry).

N H_4 here expounds upon heredity with illustrations from Mary J. Holmes.

Shakespeare (Looking sadly down from his lofty eminence).

"Oh, what a noble mind is here o'erthrown."

Curtain falls on Rave Number One.

RAVE NUMBER TWO

The scene opens with a dramatic rendering by N H_4 of the humorous tragedy entitled "A Birdseye View, or Stealthy Steve in the Saliva Box," written by Lafcadio Hisn.

A few more rapid fire questions by N H_4, follow.

N H_4—Miss Purinton, who wrote the Adventures of Springlock Groans?

Miss P. (vox a la lullaby)—A Crooin' Goyle. (Encore from the pit.)

N H_4—Miss Dunlap, what is the Glory of Clementina?

Answer, after a long pause—A Pair of Blue Eyes. (Applause vociferous).

N H_4—What the Dickens did he write?

Voice of "Bret" Hart answers, Prexy and Son; and A Tale of Twin Cities.

N H_4—Who stepped on Harriet Beecher Stowe?

Full Chorus—The Pearl of Orr's Island.

N H_4—Mr. Lowry, will you give the works of Robert Grant?

Mr. Lowry—Confessions of a Frivolous Girl. That's all I know.

N H_4—Oh, well, we all have our preferences (tremendous applause).

For encore Harry Lowry sings "Come out into the garden, Maude, which runs like this:

"Come out into the garden, Maude,
Where soft the bullfrogs croon,
And there upon the old greensward,
We'll sit us down and spoon." etc., ad infinitum.

N H_4 bristles up his hair for silence and proceeds: I will now propound a riddle to the class. Is Scott's Emulsion greater than Milton's Paradise Lost?

Excited voice of Sir Walt—You betcher.

Milton (angrily)—You're another.

Sir Walt (wrathfully)—What do you know about it, you pesky, long-haired Englishman?

Milt (explosively)—I know more'n you do, you bald-headed old Scotchman.

Sir Walt now flings the Lady of the Lake at Milt, who topples over and finally comes to rest upon the lap of ——, but we forbear,—she might blush.

Shakespeare now enters: Gentlemen, gentlemen, I pray you, cease. Why so much ado about nothing? You are raising a veritable Tempest. You never see me in altercation; why, my life flows on like a Midsummer Night's Dream.

Sir Walt (sneeringly)—Is that so, you old fossil; how about Francis Bacon?

Shake (turns to the color of marble—or plaster of Paris—and subsides, muttering): R-r-revenge, I will have r-r-evenge.

Exit chorus singing The Lay of the Last Leghorn—Hard Biled Eggs.

End of Rave Number Two.

RAVE NUMBER THREE (with Delirium Trimmins)

N H_4 (still raving)—Mr. Smith, name three books of Sir Billboard Sparker.

"Whispering" turns pale, but finally ejaculates, Two Years Behind the Class, Keeping Up with Lizzie Abbott, and, The Man with the Pink Moustache (adapted from Anna K. Greene).

Great excitement now prevails. George Borrow steps on Mary Hallock's Foote and William Dean howls.

N H_4 now prepares for the catastrophe.

The Little Minister wishes to inquire if, phosphorescogramttically speaking, the solemncoly philosophical pearls of thot dropt by George Meredith are the result of prenatured conceptualisticism or of denatured alcohol?

Action desists while N H_4 expounds.

Opie Dilldock Buck wishes to know if Stewart Edward is White, why is Anna Katherine Greene?

George Washington cables Mark Twain to learn if Irving is still a Bacheller.

"Yes," replies N H_4. "He lacks but yet a woman."

Miltonic voice from the rear now sings out,

"Last call for the Figure Eight."

Exit "Long Distance" Downing, double quick.

E. Bellrope hastily pursues.

In the confusion, Sir Walt loses his balance, and falls crashing to the floor. His dome is split asunder, and behold, a vacuum is disclosed to view.

Shakespeare exultantly shouts aloft the cry of triumph: "I am avenged, I am avenged."

Exit N H_4 followed by his satellites.

Lemoncholy Lyrics

There was a young German named Fritz,
Who lived upon Pilkner and Schlitz.
He contracted the gout from stale sauer kraut,
And his feet are now giving him fits.

There was a young lover named Paul,
Had his trousers all creased for a call,
When he came back forlorn,
In the cool, infant morn,
There weren't any creases at all.

There was a trombonist named Ed,
Who had many wheels in his head,
He broke his mainspring while trying to sing
And now his psychosis is dead.

There was a debater named Turner,
Of forensics a promising learner.
Said he, "I will speak
About three times a week,
And I guess that will fix 'er, gol durn 'er."

There is a young minister Welch,
Who labors the devil to squelch.
And he does very well
As he works to beat hell—
This earnest young theolog, Welch.

George Brunner, for short known as "Brunnie,"
At Proctor's for eats spends his money;
And said Georgie one day
To the table girl, "Say,
Sauce, please. Have you got any honey?"

(Note by Ed.—In setting this poem the printers omitted a comma after "any." Reader please insert.)

If a Hart Rowed down the Lane Wood the Sawtelle?

If the sun sets in the west where does Roscoe Bassett?

If the Class of 1912 went up in a balloon where would Roseland?

If the Bridg(h)am gone can Bickford the stream?

If Howard is Welch is Grace French?
